RAINEY SOUNDS WARNING OF AN EXTRA SESSION

House Speaker Asserts President Will Recall Lawmakers Immediately if Congress Increases Veterans Outlays, Without Raising Taxes, and Adjourns.

WASHINGTON, June 7 — (AP) — House democratic leaders have decided to postpone action on the independent offices supply bill until the administration submits a concrete compromise proposal as a substitute for the Connally amendment limiting reductions in veterans outlays to 25 per cent.

WASHINGTON, June 7 — (AP) — Speaker Rainey told newspapermen today that if congress accepted the Conally amendment, increasing veterans outlays, without raising taxes and adjourned, President Roosevelt would immediately call another extra session.

"The budget has got to be balanced," Rainey said. "If the congress adjourns after accepting the Connally amendment to the independent offices bill, throwing the budget $170,000,000 out of balance, the president would be justified in calling an extra session."

Rainey said that thus far the compromise offered by President Roosevelt had not been accepted by proponents of the amendment.

He added that President Roosevelt was ready "to fight it out with congress," saying the country would "back him up in his efforts to maintain a balanced budget."

"He will call a special session and keep us here all summer if necessary," Rainey contended.

Confers With Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 7 — (AP) — President Roosevelt went into conference today with the house democratic steering committee in an effort to adjust the controversy over veterans' allowances.

The president pointed out to the committee that of more importance than the dollars and cents involved in the dispute is the principle of providing government care for veterans whose injuries are not traceable to war service.

He feels that the senate proposal violates in this respect the principle laid down in the democratic plat-

GEORGE CARTER SEEKING PAROLE

Former Head of County Treasurers Group To Appeal to Board.

George Carter, at one time president of the state association of county treasurers, will appear before the state pardon board on June 13 asking a parole from the penitentiary where he has been serving a 2 to 18 year sentence since November of 1929. Another former county treasurer, Ernest Biggs, also will ask for his release from the prison at that time.

Release of Carter is opposed by bonding companies which made good $58.000 the treasurer embezzled from Franklin county. An attorney for one of the companies has informed the board that Carter never made a satisfactory explanation of the disposition of embezzled funds and expresses the belief the former official may still have control of the money. Carter had been in the office for 14 years as treasurer and deputy before an audit disclosed the shortages. He pleaded guilty to charges against him. A number of acquaintances and friends have written letters to the board urging Carter be paroled.

Biggs was convicted of embezzling $9,758. The money was used to pay

DOERR PLANS EXTENSION OF WATER MAINS

Seeks Immediate Action To Raise Pressure In Southeast Lincoln.

Commissioner Paul Doerr, head of the water and light department, announced Wednesday that he is preparing to extend water mains in southeast Lincoln at once with a view to increasing pressure at some of the higher elevations. His action is in conformity with suggestions contained in the report of a recent survey made by the National Underwriters association.

The first main to be laid will be a 12-inch pipe from the water plant at Thirtieth and A streets, south in Thirtieth street to Sumner, and west to Twenty-eighth street where it will be connected with another main. The connection will give direct pressure from the plant, and should increase not only circulation but pressure, Doerr declared. The district that will be benefitted the most will be from A street to South, east of Twenty-third street.

Only One for Now.

This improvement is the only one contemplated this summer, Doerr declared. The others will come as fast as possible, he said.

Decision to start the project as soon as arrangements can be com-

Dozen Changes In Allowances To Ex-Soldiers

Explain New Regulations Ordered Into Effect By Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—Here is a memorandum issued by the veterans' administration in explanation of the new regulations affecting war veterans' allowances ordered into effect by President Roosevelt:

Memorandum pertaining to amendatory regulations:

June 6, 1933.

Many changes were made today by the president in veterans' regulations concerning pensions of veterans of the World war and the Spanish-American war.

Amendment No. 1 changes the basic rate for wartime service—connected disabilities of veterans of the Spanish-American war and the World war from $8 to $80 to $9 to $90. Under this amendment the service connected Spanish-American war veterans will receive payments substantially in excess of those which they were receiving prior to the passage of the economy act. As to World war veterans, the new rate is 10 per cent less than the rate in effect for permanent service-con-

A direct Associated Press wire circuit, connecting The Star with the Yankee stadium ringside, will carry the blow-by-blow details and the news will be instantly megaphoned to the M street audience.

The Star's special fight report will get under way about 7:30 p. m., Lincoln time. Fight followers of the Lincoln region are invited to be The Star's guests at its Thursday night "party."

VAN SWERINGENS STARTED RISE ON A "SHOESTRING"

Rail Magnate Tells of Putting Up Lone Million in 1916.

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—Setting up of corporations for stock transfers to remove income tax liability was brought out today in testimony of O. P. Van Sweringen in the senate investigation of the J. P. Morgan & Co. role in erection of the widespreading Van Sweringen railroad command.

Questions by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, developed that a "general securities corporation" and later a "Geneva Securities corporation" were specially set up to effect transfers of stock to holding companies in a way "to avail of income tax exemption provided by congress in connection with corporate re-organization."

Tedious details were enumerated for such a long time that many in the audience left, J. P. Morgan and others yawned, and few members of the committee ever remained.

And at the end, Pecora told reporters:

"We have shown for the first time the advantage in effecting a transfer of stock through the medium of a third corporation.

"By this means the payment of taxes on profits is avoided. It shows a weakness in the tax laws that congress may want to strengthen."

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—A million dollar "shoestring" gave the Van Sweringen brothers their start on the path they tread today as railroad royalty.

That lone $1,000,000 was all the cash O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen and their associates first put up in 1916, the former re-

Tri-County Projectors Object to Sutherland Water Plan.

A sectional fight which may prevent development of any power and irrigation projects in Nebraska came to a head Wednesday with arrival of representatives of both the Sutherland and Tri-county projects.

The tri-county representatives indicated they would oppose development of the Sutherland project unless provision was made for large enough intake canals to furnish surplus water to the tri-county project.

Petitions for organization of the Central Nebraska Public power and irrigation district, which is the tri-county project, have been filed with the state engineer. The district would include only the cities of Hastings, Minden and Holdrege. Petitions contain the names of about 900 Hastings people, 200 from Minden and 400 from Holdrege.

Cities As District.

These three cities would be the power district, which would sell water for irrigation to farmers in the tri-counties—Adams, Kearney and Phelps. Approximately 500,000

Rock Island Line Files a Petition In Bankruptcy

CHICAGO, June 7— (AP) —The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court today, proposing to reorganize under the new federal bankruptcy act.

The railroad can proceed to reorganize without actual adjudication as a bankrupt.

The petition stated the railroad company is unable to meet interest payments of $2,259,710 falling due between June 27 and July 1 of this year.

In addition, the petition said, various bond issues totaling $144,303,700 will mature March 1 and April 1 of next year.

The signature of W. H. Burns, a vice president, appeared on the bankruptcy petition.

Among the loans which the petition said the railway company would be unable to meet on time was one of $14,718,700 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, federal agency, due next March 1.

JUNE WAR DEBT PROBLEM NEARS CRITICAL STAGE

Roosevelt Believed Holding Firm in Expecting Payments.

WASHINGTON, June 7 — (AP) — Ambassador de La Boulae of France conferred with President Roosevelt today on the forthcoming June 15 war debt payments.

The ambassador told newspapermen he discussed debts with the president, but indicated it was in the nature of determining the attitude of this government rather than the making of a specific offer.

Meanwhile the while house described the war debts situation as unchanged with no offers for revision received and none made.

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—The irksome problem of war debts pushed itself vigorously to the front today with surrounding indications that President Roosevelt is holding firmly to his position of expecting payments.

One week from tomorrow installments totaling $144,179,674 will be due. On Friday the British cabinet will meet to discuss its payment of $75,950,000, with intimations that the London government is looking for word from Washington as to what is expected.

Dispatches to this effect were countered at the White House, however, with a statement that the British had made no formal representation on the debts and that consequently no official reply could be in preparation.

There were, however, indications that some highly informal negotiations were in progress. Ambassador Lindsay has called frequently at the state department, but he has not visited President Roosevelt, who is handling the debts problem personally.

Debtors Must Act First.

With congress on record against revision or cancellation, Mr. Roosevelt's position is that any move for changes in the funding agreements must be made on the initiative of the debtor country.

THREATENS SUIT ON NEW SALARIES

Hall Will Pay Present Scale Despite Notice From Green.

Despite a threatened suit suit against himself and his official bondsmen for the recovery of any money paid out to state officers and judges as salaries, over and above the reduced amounts fixed in S. F. 5, passed by the last legislature, State Treasurer Hall intends to follow the opinion by Attorney General Good by paying warrants for their compensation on the same basis as heretofore.

State Auditor Price will also be governed by the attorney general's ruling, which is that under the constitution of Nebraska the legislature cannot change the pay of any constitutional state officer during a term for which he has already been elected and appointed and has begun to serve. All warrants are drawn in Price's office before presentation to the treasurer.

Barton Green of Lincoln, chairman of the Lancaster county republican central committee, wrote to Hall under date of June 5 notifying him that suit would be brought against him and his official sureties for any money paid out as salaries in excess of the reduced stipends fixed in the new legislative act, passed with the emergency clause.

Indiana Votes Repeal By 2 To 1 Margin

Drys Had Hoped for First Victory in Hoosier Territory.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 7—(AP)—Wets continued to maintain their advantage in Indiana today as returns came in from scattered precincts on the vote yesterday on the question of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

On a basis of incomplete unofficial returns the wets appeared to have definitely won 250 of the 329 delegates to the convention which will be held in Indianapolis June 26. A total of 79 delegates were in the dry column.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 7—(AP)—Indiana, hope of prohibitionists to stop a steady march of states toward repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, today had joined the wet parade.

In a special election Tuesday it became the tenth consecutive state to decide that prohibition has no part in the federal constitution.

TOMEK, O'MALLEY ARE NOT LISTED

Mullen Tells Thompson Who Would Suit For Collector.

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—Arthur Mullen submitted to Senator W. H. Thompson today a list of nine persons whom he said he would endorse for internal revenue collector, and urged that prompt action be taken on the position. Not included were Phil Tomek of David City and George O'Malley of Greeley, who have received prominent mention so far.

Mullen's list: John Furse, Alma; John Mattes, Omaha; Charles Smrha, Milligan; R. L. Metcalfe, Omaha; J. C. Byrnes, Columbus; A. A. Hastings, North Platte; Chris Larson, Decatur; Mrs. Charles Ryan, Grand Island; and D. A. Becher, Columbus. Mullen indicated no preference among the nine.

Thompson, on receipt of Mullen's communication, called attention to the ommission of Tomek and O'Malley and said that the great number of applications requires careful study before he could say that his choice would be confined to Mullen's list.

Mullen's action here was interpreted as a diplomatic move, since selection of any of the nine would make it appear that his choice had been observed by Senator Thompson. Apparently Thompson's refusal to pick from the list might lead to an open break.

The committeeman said that while Tomek was considered a strong contender at first, Tom Allen no longer endorsed him.

GLOBE GIRDLER HOPES TO MAKE UP LOST TIME

Young American Hops Off From Omsk, Siberia, on Fifth Leg of Round-World Journey, a 1,700-Mile Jump to Chita, Siberia —Praises Soviet Officials for Help.

MOSCOW, June 7 — (AP) —Fifteen hours after he had passed Novosibirsk, Jimmy Mattern, American round-the-world flier, was unreported today so far as Moscow knew, but unless he had encountered difficulties with his plane he should have reached Chita, Siberia, the next stop on his schedule.

Delays in communication, which increased the further eastward the flier progressed, left Moscow without word of his whereabouts.

The Moscow weather bureau said the aviator should encounter good weather and wind conditions as far as Krasnoyarsk, after which he probably would meet strong headwinds and cloudy weather on his way to Chita.

NOVO SIBIRSK, Siberia, June 7 —(AP)—Jimmy Mattern was sighted here at 4:10 a. m., today, Moscow time (7:10 p. m., Lincoln time, Tuesday). He was flying high and fast towards Chita, Siberia, his destination in the fifth lap of his round-the world flight.

This town is about 400 miles due east of Omsk, Siberia, from where he hopped off at 1:10 a. m., Moscow time, (4:10 p. m., Lincoln time, Tuesday) His average speed was about 130 miles an hour.

Chita is about 1,300 miles east of Novo Sibirsk.

Confident of Success.

OMSK, Siberia, June 7—(AP)—Jimmy Mattern, a little behind the globe-encircling flight record he seeks to better, zoomed across Siberia today confident of ultimate success.

Day was just breaking when the American pointed his plane for Chita, 1,700 miles east of Omsk, just 3 days, 12 hours and 50 minutes after leaving New York.

Before him on the fifth leg of his long journey was favorable weather

TEMPERATURE IS SLIGHTLY LOWER HERE WEDNESDAY

Third Prostration Case Reported; Fruit Crop Severely Damaged.

Cooler weather Wednesday brought relief to eastern Nebraska as the heat wave somewhat relaxed its hold and temperatures fell below the dizzy heights reached Tuesday, when an all-time June record of 107 degrees was marked up in Lincoln.

The mercury climbed to 94 here at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon as the city's third heat prostration case of the season was reported. The weather bureau predicted unsettled tonight and Thursday, cooler in the east and probably local thundershowers.

Western and northern Nebraska areas benefited from cooling wind and rainstorms Tuesday night, the storm, however, doing considerable property damage in the vicinity of Paxton and North Platte, which was swept by a disastrous tornado last month. A hail storm in Keith county destroyed wheat over a wide area, according to Associated Press accounts.

Two Young Sons of Crete Farmer Recovering From Effects.

Willie and Martin Smith, 3 and 5-year-old sons of Peter Smith living four miles east of Crete, who ate a small quantity of lead arsenic poison were recovering Wednesday morning, Dr. W. E. Lamb of Sprague reported. The poison had been purchased to exterminate potato bugs.

Smith bought the poison in Crete Monday afternoon and packed it in the rear of his automobile with household supplies. When he arrived at his farm home, he took the groceries into the house but left the arsenic in the car, intending to treat potato vines later in the evening, Dr. Lamb said.

He returned to the car and found that his sons had opened the package of poison and were munching the contents. The lads were given medical care at once and although their condition was serious for a time, Dr. Lamb stated that the effects will not be lasting.

FAIR BUDGET IS SLASHED $30,000

Full Entertainment Bill Arranged; Admission Price Lower.

The state fair budget for 1933 has been cut over $30,000 through savings on attractions and premiums, Secretary Perry Reed announced Wednesday. The biggest share of the saving has been made in contracting for the attractions but the premiums will be reduced from 25 to 30 per cent.

No decision has been reached as to the admission charges, Reed declared. He said, however, that they would be reduced below last year's figures. Conditions will determine the exact charge.

Full Entertainment Bill.

Entertainment at the fair this year will include auto and horse racing, a carnival, a musical and dancing revue, and tumbling, acrobatic and novelty acts, Secretary Reed announced.

MIDDLE LOUP PROJECT O. K. WITHDRAWN

Approval Of District Revoked Over Pact To Pay Fees.

The state's approval of the organization of the Middle Loup public power and irrigation district has been withdrawn, State Engineer Roy Cochran announced Wednesday morning

The state cancelled its approval because directors of the district offered to pay an attorney and an engineer each 2 per cent of any loan obtained from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for financing the $1 000 000 power and irrigation project Cochran said The directors had made the proposals to former Attorney General C A. Sorensen and to D E W Jones, Omaha engineer

Cochran's action was taken after Governor Charles W Bryan had ordered an investigation Walter Gibbon of Comstock, president of the Middle Loup district, came to Lincoln Tuesday called Cochran over the telephone but did not go to the office of the engineer or the governor.

Verifies Agreement

Gibbon verified the fact that the directors had offered to pay Sorensen and Jones 2 per cent each of the R F C loan, according to Cochran Gibbons said that a meeting of the directors of the district would be held at Arcadia on Thursday at which they may reconsider their previous action

"Approval of the district has been revoked for the present at least pending action which would seem to justify the steps taken by the directors," Cochran said Cochran declared the state had the authority to withdraw its approval because statements were filed by the directors that no contracts, tentative or otherwise, had been made with any attorneys, engineers or other promoters

While in Lincoln, Gibbon said that the proposed contracts were not for promotion purposes but intended to cover actual services by the attorney and engineer He conferred with Sorensen, who announced that the proposed agreement was not satisfactory to him

Need District Formation.

Organization of the district is essential before an application can be made to the R F C for a loan The districts are being organized under provisions of S. F 310, the enabling act passed by the legislature after a hard fight this spring An attempt was made during the session to include limitations on salaries in the measure but this was finally amended so that restrictions do not apply until after the completion of the project, when the engineer can be paid $10,000 a year but no other employe more than $5,000 annually

When petitions containing 15 per cent of the voters in the districts are filed, the engineer may approve organization of the districts if he finds the projects are feasible and in conformance with public welfare The requirement that directors file statements showing that arrangements have not been made for payment of fees to attorneys, engineers or promoters was made by Governor Bryan

Why Borrow?
High Speed in France
Pity This Husband
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

This country wisely proposes to spend three thousand millions to relieve unemployment. Will the government borrow the money from lenders, paying four per cent interest, which would add $120,000 000 a year to the taxpayers' burdens?

Why must the government borrow the money, slowly retiring the bonds, when it could print perfectly good money, as good as its own bonds, with the same guarantee, and retire the currency as it would retire the bonds?

At the end of twenty years, if bonds were issued at 4 per cent for three thousand million dollars, taxpayers would have to pay in interest, compounded every six months, the total sum of more than six billions, twice the sum borrowed

Could you imagine any better saving than paying for three billion dollars worth of work with nice new money, retiring the money, and saving, in interest for tax payers the gigantic sum of six thousand million dollars.

France, on a government-owned railway, has successfully tested a double-decked rail car at 125 miles an hour Its 800 horse-power engine, using 'benzol or alcohol," carries 80 passengers one mile on a third of a gallon.

W A Harriman, of the Union Pacific, is building a "caterpillar streamlined" that, it is hoped, will do as well

The day of the car weighing 180 000 pounds, and carrying 4,000 pounds of passengers, at 40 or 50 miles an hour, will soon be over And railroads, thanks to their immensely valuable rights of way, will be more profitable than they ever were

Violently interesting is the queer deep sea fish-husband that spends its life clinging to its huge mate. If it lets go, the practical wife eats it, and lives a widow until another husband attaches itself to her, when she is not looking.

This deep sea fish, called photocorynus spiniceps is more pathetic than the husband of the deep sea parasite crab, 50 times smaller than its wife, living under one of her flippers.

The wife of spiniceps possessing a phosphorescent glow, attracts many would-be husbands, and devours nine out of ten, as they approach When one slips by the wife's wide mouth, it fastens, with its sharp teeth, on to some part of the body, lives on her blood, which she does not miss, and they begin housekeeping.

New York natural history museum will soon show one of these strange couples, from the Atlantic and Caribbean deep waters, the husband hanging on, just above the wife's eye

Mother Nature, determined to perpetuate every species, manages it somehow The female spider, many times as big as her mate, devours him when he approaches with the best of intentions, unless he is very cautious

Nimble, jumping backward and forward as Fabre tells you he studies the fat creature that awaits him Woe unto him, if he comes too close, when her mind is on luncheon, not on matrimony.

By the World FORGOT

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: Nicholas Boyd, the great film star, has played the hero once too often. In rescuing a girl from a frightened horse he has himself been struck a blow by the horse's hoof—and his film career is ended. Nobody wants a movie star with a limp and a scarred face. But the greater tragedy is the probability that Bernie Boyd, his gay young wife, will not be content to retire with him to a tiny village in Nicholas' native England. Bernie tells Nicholas she cannot live in England.

His Scarred Face Grinned Back At Him.

Chapter Two.

FAIR WEATHER GIRL.

BERNIE was pretty enough. Men raved about her china blue eyes and yellow hair. Nicholas had raved about her himself, once; funny that now she should seem so like a doll with empty staring blue eyes, and red, foolishly parted lips.

A doll which when it was wound up would say rapidly—

"I cant....I can't live in England."

He moved restlessly—his injured leg still pained him sometimes.

"If I stay here—"she began, then broke off, and Boyd laughed.

"Don't tell me again you can't live in England — it's getting rather monotonous. You'll be all right if you stay here—a girl like you always falls on her feet. Killick will see to that."

He looked away from her, wondering why he was no longer jealous of Killick; perhaps he was no longer capable of any emotion.

Bernie made a little involuntary step toward him, then stopped. As he was sitting now she could not see the disfigured side of his face, but she knew if he turned his head....

She said unwillingly "Don't you love me any more?"

"Don't you think that is a question I ought to ask?" Boyd then answered. He dragged himself to his feet again. "Go to bed," he said irritably, and without another word she stole past him and into the adjoining room.

Nicholas stood looking after her. She was his wife, this girl, the woman he had held in his arms and loved; the woman he could still love if only...he waited a moment, his lips set in a hard line.

Then the door between them slowly closed and he heard the little sound of a key turning in the lock.

NICHOLAS Boyd was thirty-five.

Jaffer had made clever capital out of his age, acclaiming that it was nothing short of a miracle that a man who had never been trained either for stage or screen, a man no longer very young, should in a night as it were, achieve greatness.

Nicholas had wandered out to Hollywood as so many people do when all other doors seem closed to them, and by the merest luck had been discovered. His appearance had been his chief asset.

He was six feet three in his stockinged feet, with the sort of careless he-man appearance that is so attractive to many women.

He was not strictly speaking good looking. He had a shock of brown hair which Jaffer had insisted must be allowed to curl, whereas Nicholas had spent half his life trying to straighten it; rather rugged features, and deep-set dark eyes.

Physically he was very powerful. He sat a horse in first-rate style, walked with dignity, and had a deep attractive voice which "produced" well. From a small part in a "crowd" Nicholas blossomed in what is known to the uninitiated as a single night, into a star.

And now, just as Jaffer had squeezed every drop of value out of his meteoric rise, so Jaffer had also squeezed every drop of publicity out of the tragedy that had brought about his fall.

How the film magazines had loved it!

"Nicholas Boyd, great English film star, rescues beautiful girl from certain death."

Pages of photographs, paragraphs of biography.

"Unfortunately Mr. Boyd was slightly injured in his gallant attempt, but we can assure his admirers that he will make a complete recovery.

Complete recovery! with the iron hoof of a horse lashing his face, and frantic feet trampling his body.

It had happened during the rehearsal of one of the big scenes for his new picture, a circus procession through streets. An inexperienced girl had been riding one of the show horses, and the horse had taken fright at the sudden blare of a band, and had reared violently.

She had been in danger of being trampled to death when Nicholas dashed forward. He had dragged the girl into safety before he stumbled and fell.

"And why the hell you need have acted the hero when you weren't being paid for it, beats me," so Jaffer had said afterwards.

FINISHED!

And now Nicholas Boyd lay awake for the remaining hours of the night also wondering why.

It had been an impulse of course, for no man surely would be a hero if he stopped to think what the consequences might be.

The girl had come to see him when he was in the hospital; a poor cheap little thing in cheaper clothes. She had brought him a bunch of flowers, and had sat beside him tongue-tied and miserable.

"Why did you?" was all she could find to say. "It wouldn't have mattered about me, but you—"

Well, it didn't matter about him any longer either; the world was through with him, and all he could hope for was to find some kindly corner in his own country where he could live out the rest of his days.

If there was still a desire left in his heart as he lay awake during the breathless night, it was for home.

Had he ever been well and strong? Had he ever been able to dash across open country and spring onto a galloping horse? Had the cheers of a crowded house ever risen deafeningly as his prowess was paraded before them on the screen?

Jaffer had labelled him "The manly lover."

His scarred and crooked face grinned back at him ironically in the mirror. An ugly devil! That was the label he would have to bear in future. No wonder Bernie shivered when she looked at him.

And yet there were women in the world who had gone on loving men who had come back to them from the war, blinded, maimed—hideous. Perhaps Bernie was something less than a woman.

"The world forgetting, by the world forgot—"

The words floated subconsciously into his mind.

Nicholas' tragedy comes to a climax, tomorrow.

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits Her Son in West After Flight Across Country

LOS ANGELES, June 7 — (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has crossed the continent by air to the accompaniment of cheers of thousands who thronged the airports to catch a glimpse of the president's wife.

Tireless, smiling, she arrived on the western seaboard from Washington last night. Today she was a guest of Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, widow of the interior secretary in the Wilson administration and a long time friend, but her privileged host was her own son, Elliott, whom she made the long trip to see.

Elliott met her at Douglas, Ariz., Monday.

Greeting her here at the airport personally were Mrs. Lane; her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Franklin Lane, jr.; Will Rogers, the humorist; Gov. James Rolph, jr., and Mayor John C. Porter.

Mrs. Roosevelt was one up on Rogers in an interchange. Referring to the president, she remarked: "He appreciates that you can take his jokes as he can take yours."

For once Rogers' tongue forsook him.

"Aw, gee, that's fine," he returned, looking slightly abashed.

In deference to her wishes, Mrs. Roosevelt today was accorded privacy in her visit with her son, recently appointed the manager of a west coast air line.

Cudahy Accuses Wife Being 'High-Brow' and Displeased With Home

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 7—(AP)—Testimony of Michael F. Cudahy, millionaire packer who seeks a divorce from Alice Dickson Pinto Cudahy, that she was dissatisfied with surroundings except when in the company of millionaires and persons of outstanding social prominence, was revealed yesterday in a court commission's record filed in Circuit court.

Cudahy told of his efforts to provide a satisfactory home and told of places in which they had lived after their marriage, but said she was always dissatisfied.

She would go east, he said, and visit homes of the wealthy, then return to find fault with the furnishings she herself had selected.

He told of trips to Cuba, London, Paris, Long Island, Atlantic City and Florida and said he returned alone from several.

Cudahy testified his wife wanted to entertain only her own friends and didn't care to have his friends come to their home.

He alleges cruel and inhuman treatment.

Lincoln Labor Union Urges Bryan Approve Federal Aid Requests

The Lincoln Central Labor union Tuesday night approved a resolution asking Gov. C. W. Bryan to cooperate with officials of Lincoln and Lancaster county in an effort to obtain federal funds for the relief of the needy.

"We urge upon the governor, and county and city officials the great and pressing need for the necessary co-operation between these officials and the governor in making up the required request to the federal government for a responsible quota of the federal relief fund," the resolution says.

In the preamble it is set out that "the family relief situation is becoming more acute with the passing of time. County, City and private funds for the relief of the needy, are apparently exhausted."

Emphasizing that federal money is available for "relief and stabilization of employment," the resolution declares that "city and county officials seem to be in unison in making a request for a certain quota for local relief."

Before federal funds can be obtained by either the city or county, the request must be approved by the governor. It is this approval that the labor body is urging.

PRESS WORK ON BEATRICE ROAD

Plan Use Two Shifts of Eight Hours Each Rest of Month.

Contractors on the Lincoln-Beatrice paving project are planning on working 16 hours a day during the remainder of June, State Engineer Roy Cochran said Wednesday. Two shifts will be employed.

This project is one of the largest under way at the present time and was included in the program of emergency federal aid construction authorized last summer. While work on all these projects, most of which were contracted for last summer is scheduled to be completed by July 1, Cochran has informed some of the contractors that they will be given additional time. The additional time is being permitted where traffic will not be seriously discommoded in order to spread the work out over a longer period.

At last reports more than 600 men were at work on the Beatrice-Lincoln paving work. Two hundred and fifty-five were working in Lancaster county and 351 in Gage county. The project which has been giving employment to most men this spring and summer has been the Milford-Dorchester paving, where 819 men were at work at the time last reports were made to Cochran.

The total number of men working on various projects for contractors totaled 5,741 at the time this report was made. Cochran pointed out that this does not include many others who are given indirect employment in cement factories, gravel pits and other such work connected with highway construction.

BRYAN FAVORS THOMAS CHOICE

Denies Report That He Is Opposing Reserve Board Appointee.

Contrary to a newspaper story published at Omaha, Governor Bryan is not opposing the confirmation of J. J. Thomas, chairman of the Nebraska democratic state committee, as a member of the federal reserve board, but has given the appointment his personal endorsement and has also sent a message urging Senator W H Thompson to press for speedy affirmative action upon it by the senate

The nomination of Judge Thomas for the federal reserve board was sent by President Roosevelt to the senate last week Previous to that time, Governor Bryan had joined with other democratic leaders of Nebraska in asking to have Thomas named for this position The latter was in Lincoln and called on the governor Tuesday While he was at the mansion, Bryan wired Senator Thompson asking to have the nomination brought before the senate and a vote taken on confirmation this week

Expects Action Thursday.

"I think this may be done on Thursday Governor Bryan said "So far as I know, there is no opposition to Mr Thomas Personally I am very glad that the president has given this important place to Nebraska and that a man of such high caliber as Judge Thomas was selected for it I have known and been on very friendly terms with him for over 25 years He has been a personal and political friend during that time

'I can say further that his work as chairman of the democratic state committee contributed a great deal to the party's success in this state last year, and during the recent legislative session no one was more active or influential than he in helping to redeem the platform pledges and secure the enactment of emergency measures to ease the burdens of Nebraska taxpayers and home owners"

Resignation Up To Thomas.

As to whether or not Thomas will resign the chairmanship of the state committee upon assuming the duties of the federal position Governor Bryan said he did not know what the former would do and that no understanding exists on this point.

"I assume that whatever action Judge Thomas may take in regard to the chairmanship will be determined by his own sense of the fitness of things," the executive stated. "If his work on the federal reserve board should require him to be constantly absent from Nebraska and spend practically all his time at Washington, he probably would not wish to continue as chairman and be charged with responsibility for the party organization"

COUNTY GENERAL FUND IMPROVES

Deficit Is Not As Great As Shown Month Ago.

Lancaster county's general fund continues to show a $39,339 deficit as of May 31, despite heavy payment of real estate taxes during the month, County Treasurer William Albers' monthly report shows. Before these collections, the fund showed a deficit of $71,944 on April 30 These figures "in the red" compare with a balance on hand of $51,729 on May 31, 1932

Some consideration must be given to the fact, however, that May real estate collections have been lighter this year as a result of the law enacted by the last legislature upon request of Governor Bryan extending the delinquency day from May 1 to July 1 On June 1 of last year the county treasurer had collected 69 8 per cent of the current taxes as compared to a 52 per cent collection this year. Albers is of the opinion that the decrease is largely due to the extention of the delinquency date.

The collections up to June 1 last year were for $2,159,897 on a total of $3,092,438 to be collected. The collections this year are for $1,473-960 on a total of $2,810,864.

Albers' monthly report shows a present balance of $15,874 in the county bridge fund as compared to $11,475 a month ago and $56,682 a year ago. The highway fund shows a balance of $21,808 as compared to $27,441 thirty days ago and $93,-960 a year ago.

The complete report for May 31 follows:

State general $49 462: state capitol, $2 419, state motor vehicle licenses $46, state land $2 304, state hail $48, state highway supervision, $69 state highway maintenance $818, bees $65

County general $29 329 deficit, county bridge, $15,874, county highway $21 808, soldier relief $204, sanitary district, $18,-034, district school $213 954 cities and villages $54 538 interest $32 715, fines and licenses, $2 219, redemptions, $236 fees $2,500, Oak creek drainage, $857 county paving, $5 961, 1933 personal tax $10

BUILDING PERMITS.

Maximum Bail Asked For Man Wanted In Nebraska; Motorist To Face Manslaughter Complaints.

TARAN WILL BE BROUGHT BACK

St. Paul Man To Be Tried On Charge Fairbury Robbery.

FAIRBURY, Neb., June 7—(AP)—County Attorney A. J. Denney announced he is preparing extradition papers to be sent to Lincoln for the proper signatures, seeking to bring Sammy Taran here for trial on a charge of bank robbery.

Complaints are on file here against Taran, arrested Monday in Chicago, charging participation in the $150,000 robbery of the First National bank last April 4, kidnaping and shooting with intent to kill. The last two charges are the result of the hostages the six robbers took to shield their departure from town amid rapid gunfire.

Denney said he had telegraphed Chief of Detectives W. H. Schoemaker of Chicago for information when he could get Taran and what Chicago officers were doing with the St. Paul man. Denney said he plans to attend the extradition hearing.

Taran was questioned in St. Paul several weeks ago concerning the Fairbury robbery, but no attempt was made then to extradite him. State Sheriff Michael Endres said only one of five witnesses of the robbery identified Taran as one of the gunmen.

High Bail Asked.

CHICAGO, June 7—(AP)— Police officials said today they would seek the maximum amount of bail to prevent relase of Sammy Taran, 35, of St. Paul, held in connection with a $150,000 bank robbery at Fairbury, Neb.

Charges of bank robbery, kidnaping, and assault to kill were filed against him. He has been arraigned on a charge of receiving stolen property and the case set for June 27.

Chief of Detectives William H. Schoemaker said he had been informed by County Attorney Arthur J. Denny at Fairbury that Taran is wanted there. Denny said he was suspected of being one of a gang of robbers who committed the robbery, kidnaped two girl employes and used them as shields while leaving the bank, and fired a shot at the cashier.

Quickly Rearrested.

Taran was released on bond last night from the county jail, but a squad of police arrested him as he left the jail and took him to a cell at police headquarters.

Schoemaker said he would seek a fugitive warrant against Taran with bonds of $37,000—$10,000 each on the robbery, kidnaping and assault charges and $7,000 on a charge of conspiracy.

"That amount of bond should keep Taran behind bars until Nebraska authorities come after him with the necessary papers," Schoemaker said. Taran has refused to waive extradition to Nebraska.

Taran was arrested in a hotel room with his bride of one day. Detectives found him by following Joseph Simon, his 23-year-old brother-in-law, from a bank where Simon had cashed a $1,000 bond allegedly stolen in the robbery.

String New Champs At Nebraska Shoot

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 7—(AP)—Ted Loseke of Lindsay won the handicap championship and H. F. Richter of Fremont finished in the lead in the all-around event as the fifty-seventh annual trapshoot tournament of the Nebraska State Sportsmen's association, which closed here Tuesday.

The results made a clean sweep of the title honors, all 1932 champions being replaced. E. J. McCluskey of Geneva superseded Albert Olson of Ceresco as doubles champion, and Al Koyen of Fremont took the singles title from Cal Waggoner of Diller in previous events.

Loseke replaces S. R. Danekas of Milford, and Richter put out W. C. Zieg of Columbus. Loseke and John Neater of Columbus were tied for first place, and the former won in a shoot-off. Each broke 95 to 100 targets in the regulation event.

In the extra 25 target shoot, Loseke broke 24 and Neater 22. Richter won his event by breaking 334 to 350. He scored 44 in the doubles, 196 in the singles and 94 in the handicap.

GIVE TESTIMONY AGAINST WEINER

Witness Says Sprinkler Not Working In Rehearsal Room.

OMAHA, June 7—(AP)—Gail Hood, chief state witness, today related in District court his version of events preceding the Millard hotel fire here February 8 in which seven firemen lost their lives, as the state continued presentation of evidence in the murder and arson trial of Harry Weiner, owner of the hotel.

Hood, former night engineer at the hotel, told of a visit to the rehearsal room of the hotel the day before the fire. He said he found a sprinkler pipe disconnected, and a 20 foot length of garden hose on the floor. He added that he visited the rehearsal room the night of the fire and found several sections of a false ceiling torn out above a pile of mattresses.

After an alarm was sounded, Hood said he returned to the room to find something blocking the door, but he forced it open only to be repulsed by intense heat.

"Did you see any sprinklers working, or any water falling?" Hood was asked.

"No, not a bit," he replied.

Interrupted Conversation.

On the day of the fire, the witness said, he interrupted a conversation of Weiner and Otto Maurer, another engineer. Weiner, he stated, walked away, then returned to resume the conversation after Hood left.

Shortly before the alarm he met Weiner emerging from a door which opened on stairs leading to the rehearsal room, Hood testified.

"Weiner looked nervous," he said. "He was white and pale, and acted nervous. He mumbled something, but I didn't understand."

Taking of testimony began Tuesday, the first witness being Robert Hutchins, former night engineer at the Millard. He testifed that on Feb. 7, the day before the fire he saw Weiner in the rehearsal room tinkering with a sprinkler pipe. The state contends the fire started in the rehearsal room.

POTTER OFFICER SAYS ASSAULTED

Felony Charge is Filed Against Young Blacksmith.

SIDNEY, Neb., June 7—(AP)— A charge of assault with intent to kill is on file here against George Gunderson, jr., of Potter, 24-year-old blacksmith, as the result of injuries suffered by Karl Fricke, Potter policeman.

County Sheriff Schulz said he and Deputy Sheriff Sheldon raced to Potter yesterday, quelled threats of a gang battle and arrested Gunderson. Fricke filed the complaint after receiving treatment for skull abrasions and numerous body bruises.

Fricke told county authorities the trouble started Monday during a fire in a barn owned by Gunderson's father. The policeman said the fire revealed a quantity of liquor stored in the building, that he reprimanded the elder Gunderson and that the son attempted to strike him.

Early yesterday, Fricke related to the officers, young Gunderson approached him carrying a heavy club and told him he was going to kill him for striking the elder Gunderson. Fricke claimed he was almost beaten into insensibility before he grasped his assailant by the throat and choked him until he dropped the club.

Potter, 20 miles west of here, was in a near state of riot, officers said, and several members of the fire department and members of Gunderson's family were involved in the argument. Gunderson was brought to jail here.

RELEASED FUNDS BOLSTER BANKS

Former Guaranty Money Must Not Be Used Pay Dividends.

State Banking Supt. E. H. Luikart has sent explicit instructions in writing to all state banks that no funds formerly held as reserves for payments to the guaranty fund can be used to pay dividends to stockholders.

Luikart said Governor Bryan wanted the banks to use these funds to strengthen their financial structures. As he directs, the funds are to be transferred to a "losses and recoveries" account or to the "undivided profits" account. When thus set up, the banks are to charge off determined losses out of the fund.

"If a balance remains after such losses are eliminated," Luikart wrote, "use it further to strengthen your bank by writing down weak or inadequately secured lines, reducing book value of your real estate, banking house, furniture and fixtures or in any other manner which your board of directors may deem to be advisable."

He instructed the banks if they have already cleaned their notes and other assets to leave the amount recovered in the undivided profits account, but with specific orders against paying dividends.

Reorganized banks will be permitted to set the money up so as to reimburse old depositors whose accounts were written down in the reorganization. Banks operating under restrictions will use the money to eliminate losses or to write down weak and inadequately secured assets.

Resignation Forecast.

NEW YORK, June 7—(INS)—The New York Evening Journal, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, published today, asserts that it learns on high authority that Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin will resign without delay.

The dispatch was as follows:

"It was learned on the highest congressional authority by the Evening Journal today that Secretary of the Treasury Woodin will resign without delay.

"It was also revealed that President Roosevelt and his advisers felt that Woodin's value as a member of the cabinet had been ruined by disclosures that he was on the J. P. Morgan 'favored customers' lists."

DRIVER IS HELD IN TWO DEATHS

Charges To Be Filed Against West Nebraska Farm Hand.

BAYARD, Neb., June 7—(AP)—A coroner's jury here Tuesday held Peter Frick, 25 year old farm hand, responsible for the deaths of Mrs. Don Blackburn of Mitchell and Miss Elizabeth Lundgren of Bayard in an automobile accident Sunday night on the highway four miles northwest of here. County Attorney C. G. Perry of Bridgeport said he would file two manslaughter charges against Frick.

The jury found Frick guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated, failing to heed a stop sign at a highway intersection and with operating a car knowing its brakes were defective.

Sellie Chapman, a farmer living just across the line in Scotts Bluff county, told the jury he gave liquor to Frick shortly before the accident and a raid by officers resulted in the seizure of six pints of liquor at his farm. He was fined $100 and costs on a charge of possession.

Mrs. Blackburn was killed while riding in the automobile of Howard Fisher, a Mitchell undertaker, in which a party of seven was en route to the Chicago exposition. Don Blackburn was injured seriously and other passengers escaped with bruises. Miss Lundgren was in the car with Frick. Miss Helen Comstock and Henry Lundgren, jr., brother of the girl. Miss Comstock suffered a fractured leg, but the two men were not injured. Frick's car crashed into the side of the Fisher automobile and both plunged into a ditch.

ASK ALL PLATTE DEVELOPMENTS IN COMBINATION

acres of land can be irrigated in the three counties according to C. W. McConaghey of Holdrege. McConaghey, Steve Swigle and J. W. Kipp of Hastings and F. R. Kingsley of Minden conferred with State Engineer Roy Cochran and Gov. Charles W. Bryan about their plans.

The tri-county representatives said that Governor Bryan agreed with them that all the Platte river development should be unified.

"We stand for 100 per cent development of the Platte river," McConaghey declared. "All the water not now used should be developed 100 per cent for power and after that 100 per cent for irrigation."

The tri-county project, which has been a dream of its backers for some twenty years, filed application for diversion of water before the similar Sutherland proposal was made. The tri-county plan now is to develop the Sutherland supplemental irrigation project along with all the other proposals under the one district.

"Our plan would be to turn the property over to the state after the cost of the project had been paid," Kingsley declared.

Construction of six reservoirs in addition to the one at Sutherland is contemplated under the tri-county plan. Two power developments in Plum creek, also are contemplated.

Want Large Canal.

McConaughey said that the tri-county backers had no desire to take a dog-in-the-manger attitude. It is willing for all of the projects to be developed but wants to insure that any supply canal for the Sutherland development would be large enough to furnish water to all of the Platte territory. Under plans for the Sutherland project this would not be done, according to McConaughey.

Inclusion of the three Loup river projects in the one development also was favored by the tri-county representatives. They said, however, that they were willing to permit separate development.

Senator Tom Gass of Kearney, who is one of the sponsors of the Sutherland project, was in Lincoln Wednesday to see state officials. He was hoping for approval of the district yet this week. Gass said that his group has no connection with the tri-county project.

"I'll beat 'em yet!" he exclaimed, referring to Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the trail blazers who passed over Omsk 3 days, 2 hours and 9 minutes after their departure from New York in 1931.

By this computation, the Texan was 10 hours, 41 minutes behind his predecessors' mark, but Post and Gatty lost 14½ hours later at Blagovestchenck, when their plane became mired.

Mattern landed here just 54 minutes ahead of the Post and Gatty time, but in bringing his gaily-colored machine to earth, a wing strut broke, necessitating a delay for repairs.

Before leaving here, the smiling, youthful American praised soviet officials at Omsk for the excellent and willing help.

"I am all right," he said in a telephone conevrsation with an Associated Press representative in Moscow. "Everyting's all rigt. That wing strut has been fixed here.

"They have been awfully good to me here. They had more food than I've ever seen in one place waiting for me when I pulled in. Just as scon as I stopped eating they put me to bed repeal. The unofficial tabulation was 501,239 to 277,694 in 3,374 of the state's 3,691 precincts.

Delegates Meet June 26.

Of the 329 delegates named in yesterday's election to the convention that will meet here June 26 formally to register the will of the people, 250 will be pledged to vote for the new amendment. The anti-repealists will have 79 delegates.

Surprising strength came from a number of rural counties—heretofore looked upon as strongholds of the dry forces—to boost the vote the repealists had been given in the large cities.

Believing Indiana was the first state where they had a chance to defeat the proposal to remove prohibition from the federal constitution, workers opposed to the change made a vigorous campaign.

Thygeson Gives Talk.

form and in the economy bill passed early this session.

Also, it was made plain again by the president that if the senate amendment is kept new taxes will have to be raised to meet the added cost of $170,000,000.

No New Taxes Required.

The modification of regulations announced yesterday, he said, will not require new taxes to meet their cost. This is estimated at about $50,000,000 by the white house.

Under the senate provision, it is the understanding at the white house that about 160,000 cases would be added to the government rolls on the presumption that they were service-connected.

It is this presumptive clause which particularly irks the administration.

Under it any man who becomes sick six years after leaving the service is presumed to be ill as a result of that service.

DOZEN CHANGES IN ALLOWANCES TO EX-SOLDIERS

nected disabilities prior to the economy act.

Amendment No. 2 provides for ratings for the loss of use of arms or legs on a comparable basis with anatomical losses of such members.

Special Rate.

Amendment No. 3 provides a special rate of $150 per month in lieu of $100 per month previously provided by regulations for persons who have suffered the anatomical losses or the loss of use of both hands or both feet, or one hand and one foot, or where the person is so helpless as to be in need of regular aid and attendance where such loss resulted from injury or disease incurred in wartime service.

Amendment No. 4 provides a special rate of $175 per month in lieu of the rate of $150 per month previously authorized by regulation for persons who have suffered the anatomical loss or the loss of use of both hands and one foot, or both feet and one hand, resulting from injury or disease incurred in wartime service.

Amendment No. 5 increases the rates payable for service-connected peacetime disabilities to 50 per cent of the rate payable for disabilities incurred in wartime service.

Amendment No. 6 authorizes the payment of wartime rates to peacetime veterans or their dependents, injured or killed in military occupations or expeditions, such as Nicaragua, Haiti, China, etc.

Amendment No. 7, authorizes an increase in rate for those Spanish-American war veterans who served 90 days or more and who are over sixty-two years of age, from $6 to $15 per month.

Non-Service Disabilities

Amendment No. 8 authorizes an increase in rate for non-service connected permanent and total disabilities for World war and Spanish-American war veterans from $20 to $30 per month. This will include all presumptive World war cases coming off the rolls who are permanently and totally disabled.

Amendment No. 9 revises the rating schedule to provide a ten-step schedule in lieu of the five-step schedule previously authorized by regulations. It is also provided that on the review directed by Section 17 of Public No. 2, seventy-third congress, no decrease in the amount payable on March 21, 1933, exclusive of special statutory allowances, will be greater than 25 per cent.

The adoption of this new table with the increase in rates approved will limit reductions in cases of men suffering with wartime disabilities directly connected with the service to an average of approximately 18 per cent, with the above-referred to limitation than in no event shall reduction be greater than 25 per cent.

Burial Expenses.

Amendment No. 10, pertains to burial and funeral expenses for deceased honorably discharged war veterans so as to authorize the payment of the allowance of $75, including transportation, if the veterans' net assets at time of death are less than $1,000. In determining assets, it is provided that there shall not be included accrued benefits, such as compensation, pension, etc.. The adoption of this amendment should eliminate any difficulties, in so far as burial expenses are concerned, in the cases of those veterans who die leaving their families in necessitous circumstances.

Amendment No. 11 pertains to the children of deceased veterans and provides that pension may be paid to such children up to 18 years of age, instead of 16 years as previously provided in regulations, and also further provides that if a child is in an approved school or college, sufficient pension may be paid during the continuance of such educational course up to the age of 21 years.

Amendment No. 12 excepts from the prohibition of payment of pensions to federal employees (1) the widows of deceased veterans; (2) those veterans whose salary or compensation for services as employes is $50 per month or less.

Comparison Shown.

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—The following approximate figures made public by an authority of veterans affairs show the effect of the president's modification order in veterans' cuts, as compared with what was planned for veterans under the 1934 budget, and the cuts made under the economy act:

Service connected cases.

Under the 1934 budget, 380,000 veterans were to draw $221,000,000. Under the economy act, 225,000 veterans were to draw $165,000,000. This was a cut of approximately 40 per cent in numbers, 50 per cent in cash. The president's modification order would give to the 225,000 veterans about $89,500,000.

The monthly average per veteran under the 1934 budget estimate was $46; under the economy act $24; under the modification order $33.

Non-service connected cases.

Under the 1934 budget estimate, 501,000 veterans, with disabilities ranging from 25 per cent up, were to receive $101,000,000. Under the economy act 48,500 totally disabled veterans were to get an average of $20 a month. The president's order increased this to $30 a month. The total received would thus be raised from approximately $10,000,000 to approximately $15,000,000.

Spanish war veterans

Under the 1934 budget estimate, 197,000 Spanish war veterans were to receive $107,000,000. Under the economy act 82,600 veterans were to receive $12,800,000. Spanish war widows, under the 1934 budget, numbered 43,000 to receive $17,000,000, under the economy act 41,000 widows were to receive $7,700,000. The president's modification order changed this only by providing that the $6 rate for veterans 62 years and over should be raised to $15 a month.

LEE HERDMAN WORSE.

OMAHA, June 7—(AP)— Hospital attendants this afternoon reported the condition of State Insurance Commissioner Lee Herdman as "very poor." Suffering from a heart attack after an eye operation here two weeks ago, Herdman apparently was recovering until suffering a relapse late yesterday.

SUFFERS SUNSTROKE.

DILLER, Neb., June 7—Charles Wright suffered a sunstroke at his home here while spraying potatoes and is reported in a serious condition.

Rites Thursday For Andrew Brown, 87

Civil War Veteran Who Lived In College View Many Years Dies In Missouri.

Funeral services for Andrew Brown, 87, G. A. R. member and former College View resident who died at 5:50 o'clock Tuesday evening at Amizona, Mo., will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Undemoninational Union church in College View, Rev. Frank Mills officiating. The services will be in charge of Faragutt post, G. A. R., and interment will take place in the College View cemetery.

As a boy of 18, Mr. Brown enlisted with the Union army and served during the Civil war with Company G, Twelfth Missouri cavalry. After the war he came to Nebraska and for many years lived at College View. Following the death of his wife, in 1917, he moved to Missouri and since then made his home with a son.

He is survived by three sons, E. A. Brown of Lincoln, G. L., and George of Forest City, Mo., three daughters, Mrs. Rose Blossom, Suisun City, Cal.; Mrs. Hattie Parker, Dove Creek, Colo., and Mrs. Ida White of Omaha; twenty-five grandchildren, and fifteen great grandchildren.

The body will be brought to Castle, Roper & Matthews' early Thursday morning.

pleted was reached when it was learned that water consumption Tuesday was the heaviest ever experienced in Lincoln. Between 4 and 8 o'clock the pumping rate was 29 million gallons daily.

The plants here and at Ashland stood up "wonderfully" under the test, plant engineers declared. Both places were heavily taxed, it was said. Van Dorn station was not pressed into service, as traces of salt have been seen recently, and the wells were shut down for tests.

At no time was there indication of a falling off in the supplies available, according to the commissioner.

The lack of pressure at the high places is nothing that has not been experienced in previous years, Doerr declared, "but we will remedy this as soon as possible." Much of the low pressure was attributed to excessive sprinkling of lawns in the low districts. It also was believed that some of it is due to the flushing of mains that have not been used to any great extent, to clear them of sediment.

Heavy Run at Pool.

In addition to seeking relief from the heat by sprinkling, it was said at the offices of the park department, that there was a heavy attendance at the municipal pool.

The survey of the national underwriters provides for the installation of new mains in A street from the water plant, east to Thirty-fifth street, and north to W street, where it would connect with the line to University Place. It would be a 12-inch pipe.

A 11-inch main in Eleventh street from A to M also is suggested to give better service to the commercial district. A 10-inch main in Q street from Tenth to Fourteenth street will increase fire pressure, it is suggested. The industrial district situation will be materially benefitted, it is pointed out, if a 12-inch main is laid in Seventh street from F to P street.

For the suburban district it is recommended that a 12-inch pipe be laid between University Place and Havelock, and another in Ballard avenue, Havelock, from the railroad to Seventieth street.

VAN SWERINGENS STARTED RISE ON A "SHOESTRING"

vealed today to senate investigators in telling of how J. P. Morgan helped them on their way to the many millions of investment represented in current Van Sweringen interests.

He had been asked the amount yesterday by Ferdinand Pecora, as counsel for the senate committee, and said he could not then comply.

"I read over your question and am pleased to say I can answer frankly," he said at the start of this morning's examination.

"The amount of dollars was $1,000,000 with which my brother and my associates started back in 1916."

"You may say that is starting on a shoestring," the Cleveland operator remarked almost casually.

"I agree that is so, but we made what we have today out of that shoestring. x x x

"We were poor when we started out in life. I've never been reluctant to admit that."

Vertrees Is Granted Lump Compensation

Payment of $3,254.80 to George B. Vertrees by the Western Good Roads Service Co. and the Nebraska Neon Sign Co. as lump sum settlement of a compensation claim has been approved by District Judge Broady. The settlement also includes an additional $50 payment to Vertrees' physician.

Vertrees claimed that he suffered serious injuries in March, 1930 in falling ten feet and rolling down eight steps of stairs while employed by the Western Good Roads Co. and its subsidiary, the Neon company. He has been receiving $15 a week compensation from the time of the injury up to March 1 of this year.

The lump sum settlement represents payment for 50 per cent permanent disability to his right leg.

ports of severe damage to fruit crops in the southeastern counties, many horses dying from heat in Richardson county and raised fears for the wheat, other spring grains, pastures and alfalfa over the state unless needed moisture comes within a few days.

University of Nebraska crop experts reported all spring grains in danger if another week of sizzling temperatures continue without rain. Corn, however, is not suffering, P. H. Stewart, university extension agronomist, reported. Spring grains, pastures and alfalfa are hardest hit, he said.

Eyer Prostrated.

Richard Eyer, 23, 500 Hartley street, was the city's third prostration case. He fainted at his home at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Dr. W. H. Slattery said Eyer was unconscious an hour, but rapid improvement is believed to have carried him out of danger. Eyer came home from work Tuesday ill from the heat and did not go back to work Wednesday. He fainted in the yard at the home. His mother, Mrs. O. S. Eyer, saw him fall before she could get to his side.

Ray Flansburg, 57, Sixty-fifth street and Huntington avenue, was overcome Tuesday afternoon while working in Pioneers park. Fellow workmen carried him to shade and he soon regained consciousness. Dr. W. W. Carveth, who treated him at the city clinic and sent him home, said his condition was not serious.

The 1933 strawberry crop has been severely damaged, E. H. Hoppert, extension horticulturist at the Nebraska college of agriculture said Wednesday after inspecting the southeastern fruit producing region. Without rain within two days, the strawberry crop will be gone, he declared.

Gooseberries around Lincoln and Omaha also have suffered, Hoppert said. In many instances the berries are "cooked" on the vines. A good apple and grape crop, about three times larger than last year's however, was predicted.

Wind Damage Reported.

Associated Press dispatches from Paxton reported windstorm damage throughout that area. Travelers said farm buildings were down and wheat in a 14-mile stretch southeast of Ogallala was battered by hail. Western Union Telegraph Co. lines were destroyed between Paxton and North Platte, but no reports of injuries were received.

Norfolk Area Gets Rain.

NORFOLK, Neb., June 7 — (AP) — All previous June heat records in Norfolk were shattered Tuesday when the official government thermometer ran up to 109 degrees, the excessive heat being followed by rain and showers in several parts of northeast and north Nebraska and the Rosebud region of South Dakota, although none fell in Norfolk.

The previous high June mark was 105 degrees set on June 28, 1931.

One of last night's heaviest rains fell at Ewing where .39 of an inch was measured. In addition to the rain Ewing was visited by a severe wind and hail storm, the wind toppling chimneys from several homes and blowing down small buildings. Hail damage was slight.

Heavy Rain Cherry County.

Five inches of rain fell within an hour at the Pole Creek community in Cherry county Tuesday night. Buildings, roads, bridges, and growing crops were damaged. The section was flooded and the Niobrara river ran full. Rains elsewhere in the vicinity did crops much good.

The Pichianni troupe will be one of the feature free performance acts, Reed said. This company of nine acrobatic performers is making its appearance in America for the first time this year. Other acts include: Phil Lopas, juggler; The Six Comets, Torano Trio, Little Johns' Duo, Smith's Diving ponies and the Gold Dust Twins.

The Castle-Ehrlich-Hirsch carnival has been engaged. It comes on a percentage basis. The expense of the grandstand entertainment will be less than ever in the past according to Reed.

GREEK LEADER ESCAPES DEATH

Assassins Kill Guard And Wound Wife of Former Premier.

Gunmen Escape After Attempt On Life Of M. Venizelos.

ATHENS, Greece, June 7—(AP)—An attempt on the life of Eleutherios Venizelos, who has been premier of Greece eight times since 1910, deeply stirred this little republic today.

The 69 year old veteran statesman narrowly escaped death at the hands of gunmen who fired from an automobile at the motorcar in which M and Mme. Venizelos were traveling from Amaroussis to Athens late last night

The assailants' shots killed a personal guard accompanying the former premier and struck Mme. Venizelos, who suffered four serious wounds in the lungs and stomach Her condition today was grave The driver of the Venizelos machine was cut by glass from a broken car window. Otherwise unhurt, but in great pain, the chauffeur devotedly stayed at the wheel, and drove the travelers to their destination

Gunmen Escapes.

The gunmen, whose motive was not determined, escaped

Mme. Venizelos, the second wife of the statesman, is the daugher of a wealthy Anglo-Greek resident of Schlizzi They were married in London in 1921

Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris expressed regret and horror at the attack and immediately issued orders for a thorough investigation and search for the gunmen

Mme. Venizelos was said to be progressing satisfactorily from her injuries later today

Police were standing by for any eventuality and the garrison was confined to barracks Meetings and gatherings of all kinds were prohibited.

M Venizelos was defeated in the March 6 elections by Tsaldaris a leader of the royalist party who pledged loyalty to the republic last fall. Venizelos had succeeded Tsaldaris as premier January 17, ten weeks after relinquishing the post so that Tsaldaris might form a coalition government

M Venizelos is known as an enemy of royalty—the name 'The Modern Ulysses" having been given him for his 50-year fight for democracy President Wilson called him one of the greatest statesmen in Europe.

N. Y. College Boys Demand Justice; Receive Tomatoes

BY DALE HARRISON.

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—Some of the taxpayers and others equally unfortunate have decided they have had enough sophomoric nonsense from students of the College of the City of New York

Weary with the parading and ranting of the young men, the common peepul of the neighborhood let go with some nice ripe tomatoes yesterday, directing the vegetables toward sections of the student anatomy where they—the overripe tomatoes—would do the most good

A "left wing" of the student body has had a grievance for several days over something or other. The principal cause of their indignation is understood to be that they don t like the way some of the college instructors part their hair, or something The "left wingers," therefore, have been 'demonstrating" in the usual manner—oratory, placards, parades, denunciations, much arm waving and very little studying, to quote a little old man of the neighborhood who claims to be one of the last remaining believers in the ancient dicta that teachers should tell pupils what to do, instead of vice versa

The "demonstrating" irked the citizens to the point where they took up tomatoes yesterday in defense of their homes. When the students swung up the street, a group of common peepul let go with their vegetables. Such resistance on the part of taxpayers was a shock to the budding intelligentsia. The students dispersed in disorder.

Today, just to show the world it cannot fool with college students and get away with it, the "left wingers" called a general strike This they felt, ought to put the faculty and the public in their proper place

Besides, when on strike a student cannot be expected to study.

Phelps County Drys Form Organization

Plan To Work Against Repeal Of Prohibition and Boycott Dealers Who Sell Beer.

Completion of a dry organization in Phelps county was announced Wednesday by State Superintendent R P Hutton of the Anti-Saloon league. Frank Anderson, Holdrege mayor, is chairman of the organization and Mrs W E. Schrack of Holdrege is secretary

The group will function similarly to the Dawson county organization, which recently passed a resolution whereby its members agree to boycott all places which sell beer and to oppose candidates for office who "directly or indirectly" support liquor legislation. The Phelps county organization is planning a meeting soon, at which a similar resolution is expected to be adopted.

Mr. Hutton is plannng to help organize dry groups in a number of other counties. The main purpose of the organizations is to get out voters fo rthe elections at which state and national prohibition repeal will be voted upon. A Nuckolls county organization will be formed at a county picnic on June 23.

Dry groups have not yet decided whether to attempt a referendum on the beer bill, which is to go into effect August 10 The definite decision will be made shortly after the middle of this month, when dry representatives will meet here, Mr. Hutton said.

Nebraska projects which may fall within the category of federal aid under the national industrial recovery act will be discussed by members of the Nebraska Manufacturers association at a meeting Friday afternoon at the Omaha chamber of commerce, O H Zumwinkel, commissioner of the association, announced Wednesday morning

The national industrial recovery act which is pending in the U S senate, is a $3 300 000 federal effort to encourage national recovery by fostering fair competition and construction of public works, Mr Zumwinkel said The act if passed will empower the president with means to grant up to 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials on projects of a public nature

"The Nebraska trade recovery committee with a general state-wide membership under the leadership of John W Towle of Omaha, has been functioning on the broader phases of trade recovery," Mr Zumkinkel stated "It is desirable that a sub-section of the general trade recovery group to be formed for the specific purpose of promoting the application of the public works portion of the act"

THREE YEARS OF SAFETY LEADERSHIP

BACK in 1910 the Chicago & North Western Railway originated the safety-first movement. It might properly have been called "A School for Training in the Prevention of Accidents"

Contrary to custom, no one has ever graduated from this school . . . and no one ever shall. Each year it sets new safety standards . and each year North Western employes are called upon to meet these high standards.

The results have been gratifying.

IN 1930 the Chicago & North Western was presented with a trophy by the National Safety Council for winning the Group 'A' Award in the American Steam Railroad Accident Prevention Contest

IN 1931 North Western received the highest award given to any railroad for the best record among employes for doing the most in promoting life conservation and accident prevention of all kinds—the HARRIMAN GOLD MEDAL AWARD.

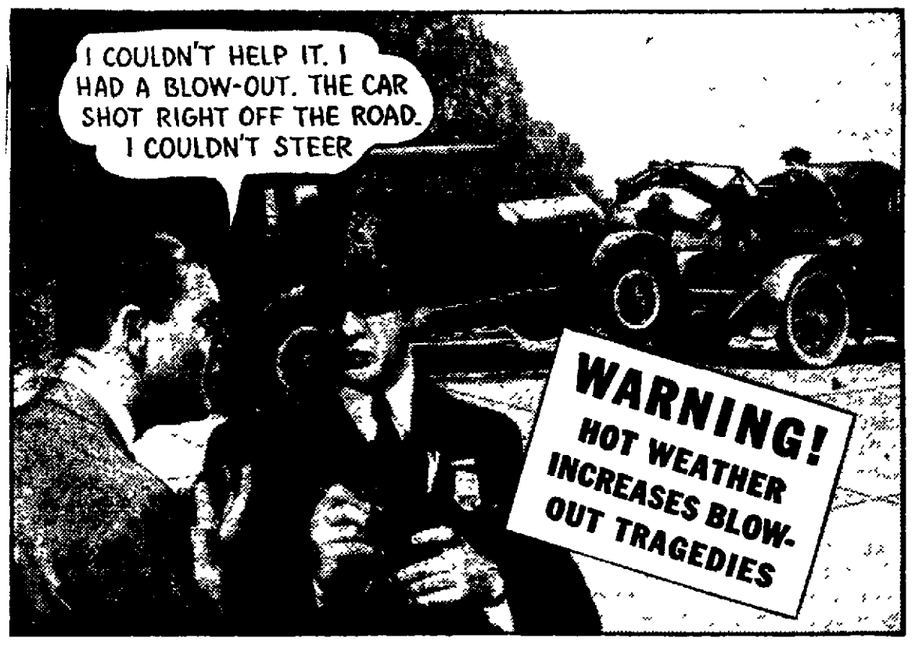

AGAIN IN 1932 North Western received the coveted Safety Award, being designated as the "1932 Group 'A' Winner by the National Safety Council in the Railroad Accident Prevention Contest."

What does all this mean to you? The splendid cooperation of all North Western employes in accident prevention is directly reflected in the service rendered to all who patronize this railroad. Go North Western for comfort, convenience . . . AND SAFETY.

North Western is the only railroad to keep its employe casualty rate (killed and injured per million man hours) under 2.00 for two consecutive years.

DON'T GAMBLE—BE SAFE!

with this 3 Times Safer Tire

Amazing new invention eliminates cause of blow-outs

Heat generated inside the tire separates rubber and fabric — starts "invisible blisters", common cause of blow-outs, even in new tires.

The exclusive Goodrich Life-Saver Golden Ply resists heat—makes the new Safety Silvertown 3 times safer from blow-outs at high speeds.

"I COULDN'T help it. I was driving along . . . doing 50 to 60 . . . and everything seemed all right. Then suddenly—without any warning whatever—my right front tire went BANG! I couldn't steer . . . I couldn't stop."

Has this ever happened to you? It could. Investigations show that the chances are better than even you'll have a blow-out some day. When . . . nobody knows. But right now . . . in summer weather . . . blow-outs are most likely to happen

What causes blow-outs?

Today's high speeds generate terrific heat inside the tire. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms . . . inside . . . where you can't see it . . . and GROWS . . . bigger and bigger until . . . BANG! A blow-out. And your car may careen through a fence or into oncoming traffic.

But now Goodrich has perfected the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This invention resists intense heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by eliminating their cause.

At grueling speeds on the world's fastest track the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown Tire lasted 3 times as long as first quality tires that did not have this feature. These Silvertowns never blew. They were run till the tread was gone—but the Life-Saver Golden Ply refused to give.

Remember, Goodrich Safety Silvertowns cost not a single penny more than standard tires. So why take chances? That blister—that blow-out in the making—may be in your tires right now! Put a set of these new Silvertowns on your car and have real protection between you and the road. You owe it to your family and yourself.

STRONG MEN.

THOSE were brave and appealing words which Chancellor Lindley of the University of Kansas delivered to the 850 graduates of the University of Nebraska during commencement ceremonies Monday. He said the world required strong men and women, who had the capacity to create their own opportunities in the same fashion those who had gone before had done. He was looking into a sea of faces of young humanity, well-groomed, eager for the fray, ambitious to taste the first blood.

By chance, on the same day, an attractive young graduate of De Pauw university dropped into the office of the editor, applying for work, while on his way to far off Australia. His home was in Massachusetts, among the lovely Berkshire hills, where his father, until a few years ago a New York broker, had purchased a beautiful Colonial estate and had settled down to the prosaic Yankee life of raising fruit and chickens. Both his father and his mother, the latter a graduate of Smith, had wanted the boy to come home and take up active supervision of the estate. It was a strange philosophy which this youngster poured into the ears of the editor, and yet one so logical, so honest, and so courageous that the editor took a great liking to the boy.

"You see we are finished in New England," he said. "The textile industry which was centered in Massachusetts transferred itself to the south, where it was at elbow's length from the source of supply of raw material. I couldn't imagine that any frankly honest youngster could look into the future and see great opportunities in a region definitely on the backward grade. I have had the idea that we weren't producing real men today—that a certain element of artificiality had become a part of the blood, that we lacked courage, resiliency, the toughness of fiber that made it possible to face both danger and hardship and endure it without a whimper. So I told my dad I was going to see whether I had it, and I am bound for Australia, where I think I can put myself to a more severe test than anywhere else."

Strong, brave men and true—they represent America's need in the judgment, both of a grizzled, seasoned educator, and an ambitious youngster just leaving college. The older man sees an ever-changing frontier—one created by machinery, by crowded cities, by great industrial sections, and by settled farming communities—for the other, the frontier is a physical one created by unsettled land and unexplored territory—the same frontier that his forebears conquered.

It isn't possible to stand before a group of these splendid young people—large or small—without a throb of pity for them. They go into the world so hopefully, so expectantly, so enthusiastically. Although boyhood and girlhood have changed, the dreams of youth are unchanging, for one of the first impulses of human nature is progress and advancement. They go along a year or two, and, perhaps the light does not shine quite so brightly as it did on that June morning. They have met with discouragement and disappointment, with shattered faith, and with smashed ideals. And the years roll on; they raise their families, seek to build their homes, endeavor to acquire wealth, develop gray hairs and wrinkles and dyspepsia, and then pass down the other slope. This is a eulogy to the unheralded heroes, for there are millions of them in this country, and they never receive distinguished service medals. They go about their labors uncomplainingly, hiding disappointments, smiling bravely, cherishing in their hearts all of the fine dreams which never come true, which rarely, if ever, are bared to an unsuspecting world. No one knows how many millions of them have dwelled in the clouds, for the day, the week, or the year. No one knows what they had planned for themselves; what they had hoped for those they loved. And although it is never realized, it is a mighty tribute to their fidelity, to their strength of character that they can live a life dedicated to decent and laudable ambition.

There were thousands who went forth last year—thousands more during the present month—and thousands more next year and in the years to come. Among them are strong men, and not the least of the strongest may be one who cherished his ideals through life, but was restricted by certain conceptions of human conduct which would not permit him to achieve them.

THE ROOSEVELTS AS AIR VOYAGERS.

WHEN Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated for the presidency he cast all political traditions to the winds and boarded an airship which took him to Chicago in a few hours, enabling him to deliver his speech of acceptance to the democratic convention before it adjourned.

That in itself gave the country an index to the character of the new national leader as a man of originality and one not bound to the moth-eaten past in an age when civilization is leaping forward all along the line. The Roosevelt stroke on that occasion cut the strings of red tape which had previously enmeshed the organizations and practices of both political parties. It was the beginning of the "new deal."

Since Mr. Roosevelt took charge of the government three months ago, it has been demonstrated time and again that he has his face to the future and does not intend to allow himself to be steered off the track by hoary and moth eaten precedents. Out-of-date methods are being cast aside, the whole mechanism of government is being given an overhauling to get rid of the rusty and obsolete parts; and intelligence is being applied to the gigantic problem of economic reconstruction. Instead of sitting with folded hands and waiting for the situation to work itself out.

The American people have placed their trust in the first "flying president" whose viewpoint seems to be that of the twentieth century. The new captain of the ship of state who utilized the most modern form of transportation for his trip to Chicago impresses them as a man who sees the world as it is now, and not as it was 25 or 50 years ago. They rely with full confidence upon his initiative and judgment to put the nation back on the road to prosperity.

White House leadership is exemplified not alone in the personality of Mr. Roosevelt, but also in his wife who has emulated his example by taking an airplane journey across the country and back. Her trip will do much to popularize this mode of travel with her sex. One of the sons of President and Mrs. Roosevelt is connected with an aviation enterprise in Los Angeles. The whole family thus seems to have gone in for flying.

A hundred years ago those who forsook stage coaches and ventured to ride on the new-fangled railroads were regarded by the general run of folks as foolishly risking their lives. The same idea is still held by some people with respect to air transportation; but the Roosevelts are doing a good deal to remove it.

BANKRUPTCIES DECREASE.

THERE was no little ground for encouragement in the report on bankruptcies sent out from New York Tuesday. It showed that there were fewer failures in the United States during the month of May than for any month during the past four years. The number for the entire country was 1,909, as compared with 2,758 in May, 1932, the greatest number ever recorded for that particular month. The greatest improvement for the past week was shown to have been made in the south and west.

Improvement along this line is without doubt due in large measure to the confidence that has been aroused by the Roosevelt policies and the activity that has been exhibited by the administration at Washington. Although there has been a strong advance in the prices of cotton, grain and livestock, it is not probable that a great deal of the money realized from that source has as yet found its way into the tills of merchants. Most of it has gone to pay taxes, interest and in many cases overdue notes.

But confidence has been inspired. Farmers who can do so are still holding grain and other products in the hope that prices will still farther advance, while merchants, as far as possible are refraining from pressing their debtors, being convinced that the latter can make money by holding on, and content that they should do so. And for the same reason jobbers and manufacturers are permitting their accounts to ride to the limit, being convinced that precipitate action at this time would be bad for all concerned.

The air of confidence and hope now manifest throughout the country is something which was utterly absent until within the past few weeks, and the cause for its reappearance is known to all men. It is keeping men and women cheerful despite the terrific heat. It has already resulted in tremendous good, which is certain to increase in volume as the weeks go by.

GLASS CHANGES FRONT.

THE unexpected and impossible has happened. Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, whose stubborn antagonism during the earlier stages of the Morgan inquiry brought down a shower of abusive letters upon his head, has changed front to all public appearance, at least. Senator Glass was represented as being extremely critical of the investigation, and dubious concerning the scope of the inquiry.

It is upon his resolution that the senate will be asked to grant to its banking committee full authority to check carefully into the stock selling activities of the Morgan partners, which enabled them to avoid payment of income taxes through deductions on losses as legalized by the income tax law.

The resolution is made necessary because the committee's authority had been challenged by John W. Davis, the Morgan counsel. Senator Glass is anxious to get the full facts for the purpose of aiding congress in remolding the income tax law.

The action is strictly in harmony with the sentiment of the American people. While the need of revenue for the government is great, in order that the budget may be balanced, the demand is against new tax schemes. Second only to that is the insistent outcry that great wealth shall be made to bear its just portion of federal taxation. The entire Morgan episode, scoffed at by many, and belittled, particularly in business circles, provided a shocked reaction the country over, when it was brought out that the richest private banking insitution in the country had not found it necessary under the law to pay income tax, but through the deductions allowed for capital losses, had escaped without contributing a penny. This congress which is to end in a few days may not attempt to tinker with the income tax law. But the congress meeting next December, in the event no action is taken at this time, may be expected to rewrite it.

MEETING THE TEST.

WITH the pumps of the Lincoln water department operating on the basis of 29 million gallons a day, the first real test of the new Ashland wells has been supplied by the recent days of extreme heat.

H. A. Shaben, assistant to Commissioner Doerr, said the wells had been given a thorough testing and had fulfilled expectations in every respect.

Certain it is that had the city of Lincoln been compelled to rely upon the old source of supply, it would have faced a crisis early in the summer. The use of water in recent days has been far heavier than at any previous time, and no restrictions were needed. Virtually the entire supply came from the new plant located on the banks of the Platte near Ashland. Without inviting an answer that Nebraska has gone California, it can be said the extreme temperatures since Sunday were abnormal and extraordinary and would have meant great damage to shrubbery, trees, lawns, and flowers, if it had become necessary to curtail the use of water. The city made an excellent investment in the nick of time when it approved a bond issue for a new plant.

BIG NAVY PLEAS.

THE condition of the ship building industry is one reason why the "big navy" talk continues even in depression times. New statistics show that the industry is suffering severely from the depression and the National Council of American Shipbuilders frankly states: "The only relief is a hope in a substantial participation in the building of any naval vessels that may be authorized."

Not a single sea going merchant vessel was under construction in American ship yards on May 1. The only commercial work was the construction of a few small craft for bay and harbor service. Repairing of ships also is practically at a standstill.

Five U. S. navy ships were nearing completion at that time, however, an airplane carrier, a cruiser, two destroyers and a submarine. Construction of another cruiser had just begun. The value of unfinished construction the first of this year was $29,000,000 contrasted with the high figure of $120,000,000 three years ago. Employment in shipyards had dropped from 19,000 to 8,700.

These statistics lead any novice in politics to expect that the friends of the ship building industry would see the necessity of the United States "strengthening its naval defenses" at the present time. The regions dependent upon ship building for prosperity undoubtedly find it easy to believe that the security of this nation is threatened unless it has some more fighting ships. But the rest of the nation will find in these same statistics an additional reason for scrutinizing carefully the pleas of the "big navy" bloc.

QUESTION.
Davenport, Iowa.
Do you believe in freedom for the Filipinos?

ANSWER.

I believe in freedom for all men. What else can a genuine American believe? But human conditions are so greatly diversified that political enactments which spell freedom for one group may spell tyranny for another for another. The Egyptian fellaheen had no liberty and none respected his rights as a human being until Great Britain exercised control over the Nile valley. Not till then did its oppressed peasants realize that thye were anything but hewers of wood and drawers of water. Even so, they were still far removed from being qualified for self-government.

If by granting the people of the Philippines complete independence the United States contributes to their welfare and happiness, so be it. But if, as many responsible officials at Washington and elsewhere believe, such a measure would not conduce to those ends, why should we legislate for the future ills of the Filipinos?

Those who are involved in this important question have to carefully consider its permanent as well as its temporary advantages. To say the least, the men who advocate independence of these islands in order to get rid of their free competition in our home markets are open to suspicion. As the issue now stands, it is highly debatable and in need of further clarification.

QUESTION.
Raleigh, N. C.
I often wonder how life originated. What is your idea on this subject.

ANSWER.

The old controversy about the origin an dnature of life is by no means settled. Until now no juggling with organic elements has generated living organisms. Chemistry and physics have made amazing advances but they have not solved this problem. According to Pasteur, the great French scientist, life comes from previous life alone, and the question still stands where he left it.

There must be some factor essentially different from any combination of physical elements which explains the mystery of the life force. The French philosopher Bergson calls this force the "Elan Vital." He views it as the simple yet decisive power which controls the infinite manifestations life presents in the vegetable, animal and human realms. I suggest you read his "Creative Evolution," especially pages 90 to 100 in the English translation, which is available at any standard bookstore.

But while possessing real values, M. Bergson's doctrine must be classed with the cruder conceptions of the life force. This is more adequately and rationally treated by Holy Scripture. It teaches that one Supreme Personality is the fountain of all life, and that He crowns its glories in man as the steward of all its marvels. This teaching appeals to me as profoundly true and constitutes the most adequate answer to our necessities as thinking and feeling beings.

Lotze, who mirrored the universe in his marvelous mind, insisted that if we are compelled to believe in the dominance of mechanics in the physical structure of the worlds, we are also compelled to believe in the absolute subordination of these mechanical laws and the physical wonders produced by them to a higher purpose than mere mechanics can produce. That purpose is residual in the Creator and manifested in His intelligent creatures.

QUESTION.
Charleston, W. Va..
Why do some of our so-called statesmen advocate reduction of war debts or even their cancellation? Do they expect us to pay the bill for foreign nations which are always at loggerheads and which maintain such huge armaments?

ANSWER.

There is a marked difference of opinion on this exceedingly complicated issue. By no means all who advocate revision of the debts favor their cancellation, and those who do would make that policy conditional on a drastic reduction of the war budgets of the debtor nations. But in view of the fact that, with few exceptions, such as Great Britain, all have defaulted in the payment of the latest installments due and pleaded sheer inability to meet them, many financial experts believe that a composition of their obligations should be made. The ultimate outcome seems to be either revision or non-collection.

What I dread is another body blow at our already deeply injured industrialism. France helped to aggravate the financial crisis by her insistence on reparations. If we follow suit and demand that Great Britain pay us, even though the nations indebted to her default and leave her stranded, we may run into another wave of depression which would not be calamity but a catastrophe. We do not need that bitter experience to teach us that rehearing and revision are to be undertaken not for European nations, but primarily for ourselves. It seems a clear case of generosity as the best policy, and those who refuse to practice it may discover when it is too late that they have sowed the wind to reap the whirlwind.

As I see it, a fixed amount should be arrived at with respect to each foreign debtor, based on the debtor's present ability to pay, and that amount should be paid forthwith in full and final settlement.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

HOW AND WHY FOLK PERSPIRE AND DEMAND ICED BEVERAGES.

The popularity of iced beverages increases in the summer time, for the sound physiologic reason of the increased amount of our perspiration during that season.

Dr Clendening

On a hot summer day, a person, under average conditions of activity, may lose four or five pounds in the form of perspiration. At the baseball game, the athlete on the field and the enthusiast in the bleachers will perspire for different reasons.

Recent researches have shown that active exercise causes sweating every place but on the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet. Ths is not because the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet do not contain sweat glands, but for the curious reason that the sweat glands in these places are stimulated only by mental stress. Several years ago, a physiologist reported this in "The Lancet," making his tests of mental stress by proposing problems in mental arithmetic. This stimulus was adequate to produce increased sweating of the palms but not of the forehead. The forehead has a mental response to sweating, but only to more severe degrees of mental stress.

We can see, therefore, that both the baseball player and the baseball watcher will need to replace water and salts lost by their perspiration. The athlete on the field loses the water from all parts of his body; the enthusiast in the bleachers, if he is just mildly interested in getting the fellow on second, home, loses it from the palms of his hands and the soles of his feet, and, if he is one of the old triple riveted fans, from his forehead as well.

In either case, an iced beverage will be in order, and even demanded. These iced beverages do their work well, because they are particularly efficient thirst quenchers. Or, in other words, water replacers. Water alone is not absorbed as rapidly as that which has some fruit juice in it, and especially not as rapidly as the carbonated drinks.

Dr. Bernard Fantus, in a book on drugs, says that effervescent drinks are of advantage for their effect on the stomach because they expedite the passage of ingested material out of the stomach. "This is the reason," he adds, "for the popularity of 'soda water' during hot weather, for water quenches thirst only while it is in the mouth and after it has left the stomach."

Besides this quality of rapid absorption of fluid, the iced fruit beverages, such as lemonade, orangeade, limeade, etc., bring some salt to replace that which is lost and, in their sugar content, some easily absorbed energy. Fruit juices gently stimulate the kidneys to throw off such waste products as have been formed from the physical or mental anguish mentioned above.

Carbonated bottled beverages are, for practical purposes, just as good as the more laboriously home-made varieties. With increased efficiency in combining natural fruit juices and extracts, manufacturers have made these beverages more and more natural. They are safer and purer than wate ris lable to be if obtained elsewhere than from a known source of good water. The carbon dioxide has a slight pasteurizing effect and kills off yeast and moulds and, therefore, helps to keep the beverages clean.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation." "Reducing and Gaining." "Infant Feeding." "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

THE LITTLE HOME.

The little house is not too small
To shelter friends who come to call.
Though low the roof and small its space
It holds the Lord's abounding grace.
And every simple room may be
Endowed with happy memory.

The little house, severely plain,
A wealth of beauty may contain
Within it those who dwell may find
High faith which makes for peace of mind,
And that sweet understanding which
Can make the poorest cottage rich

The little house can hold all things
From which the soul's contentment springs
'Tis not too small for love to grow,
For all the joys that mortals know,
For mirth and song and that delight
Which makes the humblest dwelling bright.

People's Forum

Gold As a Burden

Lincoln, Neb., May 31.

To the Editor of the Lincoln Star: Congratulations for your last three editorials and for the stand you have taken in regard to the gold standard and your support of our noble president with his back to the wall, fighting for the masses and trying to break the chain of gold that was fastened on the people of this nation by the treachery of the congress that assembled in Washington in December of 1872.

If he succeeds, I believe that his name will go down in history as the greatest humanitarian since the time Christ was on earth. But listen! What do we hear from some of our senators? Why, it is repudiation not to pay those contracts in gold. Senator Glass says it is unconstitutional. Why does he not tell the truth and say that the gold standard was fastened on this nation by a congress that assembled in Washington in December of 1872. The constitution they swore to uphold did not grant them power to debase one of the basic money metals. Such an act was only legal by amendment and had to be ratified by three-fourths of the legislative bodies of the different states. Did the states ever adopt such an amendment. No! The people of this nation are supposed to be educated and yet I claim they are as ignorant of their legal rights as the new-born babe. They have been taught by unscrupulous men that nothing could be money but gold. They have been taught that, if silver was remonetized, that they would be paid in fifty cent dollars. What, I ask you, makes a dollar? Is it either silver or gold? No! What then? We have a body of men, called the congress. They were given the power by the constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof. The same authority said that so many grains of gold should constitute a dollar. Also, so many grains of silver should be in a silver dollar. Prior to the adoption of the coin measure, the first congress that ever assembled within the United States adopted a currency measure. Backed by the credit of the United States, that immediately restored the faith of foreign nations that, although we could not pay them in gold or silver, we could pay them in the necessities of life. The men of this nation have never lacked courage as soldiers or sailors on land or sea, but when they face the men, who by special laws have robbed them, their wives and children, they are afraid to call their souls their own, but simply bow to the God of Gold. Did not Christ set us an example of what our duty was when he drove the money changers from the temple? Did not those same men immediately start the cry: "Crucify him?" Why? because he was destroying their nefarious business of robbing the people. G. W. M.

Johnny Gives Up

The wise, acknowledging defeat,
Will try to gracefully retreat.
—Old Mother Nature

To say that Johnny Wren was astonished when he saw the place Jenny Wren had chosen for a home is putting it mildly. Not only was he astonished, but he was upset, very much upset. It was the fish basket or creel of Farmer Brown's Boy, and it was hanging from a nail in a post inside the shed at the rear of Farmer Brown's house.

"You're crazy!" sputered Johnny. "There is something wrong with your head. Who ever heard of such a place for a nest? You can't build here."

"Tut, tut, tut, tut! Who says I can't?" scolded Jenny.

"I do," retorted Johnny.

Jenny merely tossed her head and flew out to look for material for that nest. In a moment she was back and whisked inside that basket through the opening in the cover made to slip fish through. Johnny was so disturbed he forgot to sing.

"The idea of choosing such a place as this, when over in the Old Orchard are houses built especially for us! sputtered Johnny. "If there were no place else this might do. As it is, it won't do at all."

"Watch and see," retorted Jenny.

"You must be fooling" said Johnny. "You don't really mean that you plan to raise a family in that thing."

"Something like that," replied Jenny. "What is more, the babies are going to like it. We are going to have one of the best nests we ever have had. For goodness sake, Johnny, do quit your fussing and help me. Do you expect me to do all the work."

"If you are going to build in that thing I do," retorted Johnny. "We will be the laughing stock of the neighborhood. Tell me, my dear, why you have chosen such a place?"

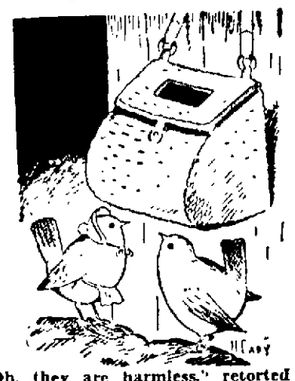

In the first place, because I like it. In the second place, because we have no near neighbors," replied Jenny.

"No near neighbors!" exclaimed Johnny. "What about these people who live in the house and come in and out of this shed every day?"

"Oh, they are harmless," retorted Jenny with a saucy flirt of her tail. "They won't bother us."

"What about Black Pussy?" inquired Johnny darkly.

"We are as safe from her here as in the Old Orchard," replied Jenny.

"Oh, they are harmless," retorted Jenny with a saucy flirt of her tail.

"I still think you are crazy," grumbled Johnny.

"You don't have to stay here if you don't like it," snapped Jenny, who was beginning to lose her temper. "I can get another mate. I saw a handsome stranger only this morning. He wanted to make my acquaintance."

"Did you let him?" asked Johnny jealously.

"No, but I will if you don't want to come over here with me," retorted Jenny, "This is where I am going to have a nest, and if it doesn't suit you, you can return to the Old Orchard and look for another mate." She fairly snapped this out.

"I don't want another mate," protested Johnny. "All I want is for you to get a little sense in that head of yours."

Jenny's bright little eyes twinkled. "I never had more," she said. "Now hush up and either leave me alone or get busy and help me with this nest."

Johnny went off and sulked. Jenny paid no attention to him. She worked as only a busy wren can work. At last Johnny gave up. He knew when he was beaten. Jenny had made up her mind, and that settled it. He picked up a little stick and offered it to her as she poked her head out of the basket.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

How to Play AND How to Win

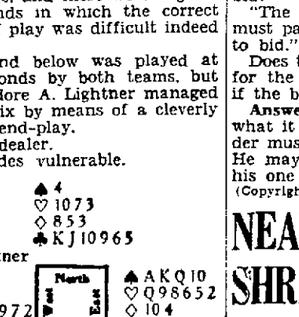

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

TEAM-OF-FOUR PLAY.

With two important tournaments—that of the American Whist League at Hanover, N. H., and that of the American Bridge League at Asbury Park, N. J.—scheduled for the summer, teams-of-four are being formed and practice matches are the order of the day. In one such practice match an epidemic of slams was responsible for several swings, and there were a great many hands in which the correct method of play was difficult indeed to find.

The hand below was played at five diamonds by both teams, but Mr. Theodore A. Lightner managed to make six by means of a cleverly executed end-play.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

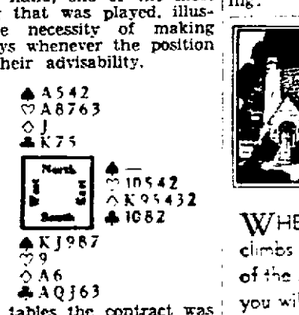

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Double	Redouble	3 ◇
Pass	3 ♡	3 ♠	4 ◇
Pass	5 ◇	Pass	Pass
Pass

The opening lead was a spade, and after dummy won with the ace Mr. Lightner was confronted with the problem of trying to avoid what looked like a probable ruff in the spade suit. Seeing 11 tricks in sight, he decided not to try to ruff his losing club, so instead led seven rounds of diamonds, retaining the spade king-queen-ten, the heart queen and the club ace in the dummy. South was down to three spades and the heart ace was forced to let go the heart king on the dummy's club ace. Mr. Lightner, who had correctly read north's opening club bid as a psychic, now led the heart queen, and south was forced to win the trick with the ace and lead up to dummy's spade ten-ace.

Another hand, one of the most interesting that was played, illustrated the necessity of making safety plays whenever the position suggests their advisability.

At both tables the contract was six spades and at both tables the contract was made through declarer's laying down the spade king on his first lead of trumps. This was to provide against the very distribution which existed. Had the ace been led, the contract would not have been made. Another interesting feature of the hand is that if seven spades had been the contract, the proper lead would have been the ace, since then it would have been necessary to provide against all four spades in the east hand.

Today's Questoin.

In the new laws the following statement is made in regard to a bid out of turn and an insufficient bid:

"The partner of the offender must pass when next it is his turn to bid."

Does that mean that he is barred for the rest of that hand or only if the bidding is not reopened?

Answer: The law means exactly what it says. Partner of the offender must pass his next turn to bid. He may re-enter the bidding after his one pass.

LINCOLN TO GET BIG SHARE TAX

City To Take Nearly All Apportioned To Municipalities.

Lincoln will receive 96½ per cent of all gasoline tax money made available to Lancaster county's villages and cities under a law enacted by the last legislature, County Treasurer William Albers stated after making calculations Wednesday The new law gives all incorporated towns 10 per cent of the state gasoline tax collections, to be divided in each county according to the population of the respective municipalities

Albers has just received Lancaster county's share of the gasoline tax collections for May, amounting to $12,824 The share for cities and villages under the new law would be $1,282 Lincoln's 96½ per cent share would be $1,237 while all the other towns in the county together get only $45.

There is a legal question involved, however, in the distribution of the May collections, since the law did not become effective until May 15. Albers stated that County Attorney Max Towle probably will be asked to give an opinion on the rights of the cities to share in this first collection under the new law.

Population Is Basis.

Lincoln receives practically all gas money by virtue of its having a population of 79,592 under the 1930 census, while the population of all the other towns in the county totals only 2,858. Albers' calculations show that if the full 10 per cent is turned over to the cities for the month of May, the village of Roca, smallest of the county's incorporated towns, will receive only $1 66 as its share. Roca has a population of 107. The average population for towns other than Lincoln is 220 according to Albers, which would give the average sized village a $3 44 share in the May distribution.

The May gasoline tax collections are among the heaviest of the year, the county treasurer stated, collections for the county dropping down to $9,000 and $10,000 during some of the winter months. The city of Lincoln may expect, however, to receive approximately $1,000 a month or better the year around under the new law, Albers said. The money received by cities and villages from the gasoline tax collections must be used in street improvements.

May Not Be Available.

Whether the city can use the gas tax money at once is a matter that will have to be determined by the city attorney, who already has been asked to make a study of the statutes. If it is possible, the money can be used to good advantage now, repairing the paving .

In the event that it cannot be used because it was not included in the appropriations for this year, then it will be budgeted for 1933-34. In this event it is likely the amount will be deducted from the levy for the paving repair department.

Regardless of how the money is used, it is certain that reductions in the levy will have to be made for the coming year, it was learned Wednesday. Tax collections are far below normal and only a reduction in the appropriations to go in effect September 1 will stop a further decrease during the coming year, in the opinion of city officials.

Compensation Claim Materially Reduced

Holdrege Banker Who Suffered Fracture Of Arm Is Not Allowed High Expenses.

In awarding compensation for accidental injuries to G. H. Titus, the president of the First National bank at Holdrege, State Labor Commissioner Matthews cut down accompanying bills for surgical and medical treatment, hospital care, nursing, and miscellaneous expense from a total of about $2,000 to $557.51.

Titus suffered a fracture of his right arm in August last year and is allowed $15 a week compensation against the bank's liability carrier from that time up to February 1, last, plus $375 more after that date for 10 per cent permanent disability of the arm

WESTERN UNION WILL PAY LEVY

Disputed Franchise Tax For Three Years To Be Remitted.

Tax litigation between the Western Union Telegraph Co and the state of Nebraska, which has been in federal court for the past three years, will be dismissed by agreement and the company will pay back taxes on its franchise valuation of $245,000 for 1930, 1931 and 1932, as fixed by the state board of equalization The tax is about $8,100 for each of the years

The company is asking a substantial reduction in the assessment for 1933, which will be granted by the board because it appears from the data at hand that the franchise value has decreased very materially.

Through its Omaha attorneys the Western Union sent a communication to the state board a week or two ago declaring its willingness to pay up for 1930 and 1931 but asking that a downward adjustment be made for 1932 to fit the reduced earnings and other changed conditions of the corporation's business

At a special meeting Tuesday afternoon, with all members present except Governor Bryan, it was decided that the board could not legally go back and modify the 1932 assessment at this time Thereupon, the company signified it would also pay for 1932 on the $245,000 basis

It had asked to be cut down from that figure to $165,000 for last year.

State Tax Commissioner Smith and his associates on the board assured the company's spokesman that it would be treated fairly in the 1933 assessment along with all other corporations subject to franchise tax and that due consideration will be given to its decreased revenue for 1932 in fixing the new valuation

Attorney General Good was authorized to sign a stipulation with the company's counsel which will be filed in United States court, dismissing the tax suits for all previous years Edwin Vail, assistant attorney general was present and advised wtih the board

The Western Union lost the vital part of its suit when three federal judges some time ago upheld the state board's authority to impose a franchise tax The question as to whether the amount of the assessment was reasonable had not been heard or decided.

Serious Juvenile Delinquency Drops

Mrs. Morning Attributes Decrease To Depression; Petty Cases Increase, However.

Serious cases of juvenile delinquency have decreased but there has been a large increase in petty delinquency cases in Lancaster county since the depression, Mrs W M Morning, juvenile probation officer, stated Wednesday

Mrs. Morning's statement was made after Mrs Clara C. Clayton, director of the state bureau of child welfare, was quoted as stating in an address to the Sarpy county Red Cross and county commissioners that "the number of cases of juvenile delinquency in Nebraska during 1932 was only one-third the number in 1931"

The "petty delinquency cases" to which Mrs Morning referred consist largely of disputes between neighboring families and their children, the probation officer said. "Dad is home more than he was in good times and the tension in the home is always greater where there is unemployment," she explained. "Dad is usually the one to blame when his children and those of the people next door get into trouble. The youngsters are seldom at fault"

Mrs Morning agreed with Mrs. Clayton that less spending money for the chillren has kept them more closely at home and helped to decrease delinquency of a serious nature. Mrs. Morning said she was not able to state the percentage of decrease in serious delinquency cases.

Randall Insists Bus Hearing Not To Be At Omaha

C A. Randall, chairman of the state railway commission, Wednesday reiterated that a hearing on the Omaha bus case would not be held in Omaha. The final appearance on the case is scheduled for Thursday and Randall said the commission did not intend to permit further delay.

Randall also took exception to statements credited to Commissioner John Hopkins in Omaha. He said that although he had been on the commission 10 years, it was the "first time I knew we were furnished any cars" He said the commissioners had to use their own cars and added that decreased legislative appropriations had so reduced commission funds as to make it impossible to hold all hearings in home communities

Contract Awarded For License Plate Steel

The contract for furnishing sheet steel used in manufacturing automobile license plates was awarded Wednesday by the board of control to the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. of Youngstown, O. It submitted the low bid of $2 91 per 100 pounds about a month ago and tests made at the reformatory factory show the material to be satisfactory. Chairman Harry Thorpe of the board said

The state purchased approximately 400,000 pounds of the steel last year. Since the size of license plates will be reduced slightly next year, slightly less will be required for 1933. Work is expected to start at the factory in the near future.

Fists Fly and Noses Punched at "Cincy" Park

Ball Players Say It With Bare Knuckles At Cards-Reds Game

BY LES CONKLIN.

NEW YORK, June 7—(INS)—Just before the season started, the two major league presidents made a stirring plea for more aggressiveness on the ball field, and they have received an enthusiastic response from the hired men and customers alike. Fans in Washington and Cincinnati are saying it with pop bottles, one first-class riot was staged at the capital and numerous feuds are raging.

Punch On Dizzy's Nose.

The latest vendetta came to a head in Cincinnati yesterday when "Dizzy" Dean, megaphone man of the St. Louis Cardinals and leading exponent of the perpendicular pronoun, talked himself into a punch on the nose. It was delivered by Paul Derringer, Dean's former teammate, but the fight was won by "King Kong" Vance of the Cards. Vance squelched both belligerents by the simple method of sitting on them until they cooled off.

Derringer was sore at the Cards anyway for trading him to Cincinnati and his ire was aroused further when Dean declined to smile when calling him certain names. A shower of pop bottles, one of which struck a player, and the ejection of two hired men from the premises, proided additional excitement.

St. Louis won the ball game, 6 to 2. Pep Martin and Joe Medwick led the attack with four hits apiece, Martin taking the lead in the league batting race.

Giants Still On Top.

The Cards failed to gain on the pace-setting New York Giants, who made it three straight over Brooklyn, 7 to 2, and dropped the Dodgers into seventh place. Carl Hubbell hung up his seventh victory for New York, while the Giants knocked Owen Carroll out of the box.

Gink Hendrick's pinch double climaxed a four-run rally in the eighth inning that staked the Chicago Cubs to a 5 to 3 verdict over Pittsburgh.

The New York Yankees increased their lead over Washington in the American league to six games by shellacking the Red Sox twice, 4 to 0 and 8 to 4, while the Senators lost to the Athletics again, 8 to 4. The Yanks were outbatted in the opener, 11 to 8, but Pennock kept Boston's hits scattered. In the nightcap, Babe Ruth walloped his eleventh four-bagger of the year, taking the lead in the home run derby. The Yanks have won seven straight, and Boston hasn't beaten them all season.

Pitcher's Double Decides It.

Mahaffey of the A's won his own game against the Senators, driing ivn three runs with a double, much to the discomfiture of Pitcher Wally Stewart, who had passed two men to get at the Philadelphia huddler. Stewart was yanked in the seventh when Coleman and Cochrane hit homers.

The A's regained fourth place, passing the Cleveland Indians, who were set down, 5 to 2, by "Schoolboy" Rowe of Detroit.

The Chicago White Sox made it four straight over the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3, Lyons outpitching Blaeholder. Kress of the Sox had a perfect day at bat with a homer, double and single.

The Braves and Phillies were not scheduled.

Brass Tacks

By Cy Sherman

BASEBALL, so they tell me, is a dying sport. But is it? Let us ponder the evidence The New York Yankees and Connie Mack's White Elephants performed last Sunday in a double bill at Col. Ruppert's massive arena. The number of customers was estimated at 65,000—the season's record crowd. Just across the Brooklyn bridge, the Giants and Dodgers mixed in the presence of 40,000 spectators.

But that's in the big city, you may say, and conditions there don't apply in other regions of the national domain. So what about that? Coming nearer home—right here in Lincoln, to be specific—the record book shows that a throng estimated at eight to ten thousand saw the Links and Norfolk Elkhorns tangle in a recent game at Landis Field. It would seem that the interest in the national game isn't in a state of rigor mortis when that many will turn out to an exhibition of class D baseball.

Strolling out Denver way, what do we find? The House of David's bearded pastimers and the Denver Athletic club got together last Sunday in a twin entertainment at the former Western league park. Seven thousand fans paid hard money into the till.

RETURNING to Nebraska, it cannot be disputed that the two largest cities, Omaha and Lincoln, are hotbeds of interest in amateur circles. The metropolis has organized its amateurs into several leagues.

In Lincoln, the City league is operating again, with a string of fast clubs taking part in the pennant flight. And the soft-ball tossers of the capital city are in the field this summer with three or four circuits.

Out in the state, the amateurs are in action all along the line. I lack accurate figures, but I have been assured that no less than 25 leagues are putting on pennant races, playing Sunday games.

Most of these leagues are eight-club circuits. So the evidence seems to be clear that the diamond game still has an appeal for those who play it, even though the crowds may be below the standards of former years.

SO FAR as Lincoln's Links are concerned, I am convinced that the local management should bring pressure on the league in demanding the abrogation of the rule fixing the admission price at 35 cents.

I have a fixed conviction that a lower admission price, say 25 cents, would double the attendance at Landis yard. The public, I believe, still is interested in baseball—and will keep the turnstiles clicking if the fee at the gate is in harmony with the trend of the times.

The expense of operating a Nebraska league club is less than a year ago. Salary costs have been lowered 33 per cent in comparison with 1932, which convinces me it would be good business for the Lincoln management to pass some of that saving to the customers.

I have a belief the fans would respond in a surprising manner: that the response would actually put so much new money into the boxoffice as to make the lower price plan a great success.

The slump in minor league ball, marked by a decrease in the number of leagues, does not by any manner of means indicate lessened interest in the national game. It proves a lack of aggressiveness and business sense by the leagues—an inability or refusal by the league authorities to grasp and then meet the new conditions.

ANOTHER link in the chain of evidence that John Public still takes his baseball seriously is provided by the whacking big vote that is being cast in the contest intended to select, by popular ballot, the two major league teams which are to clash in the All-Star charity game, dated for July 6 at White Sox park, Chicago. The total to date includes upwards of two hundred thousand ballots.

Based on that vote, the nation's fans have expressed that at the moment they favor the selection of the following players:

American league: Outfielders—Simmons, Ruth and Averill, with Chapman as substitute. Infielders—Gehrig, first base; Gehringer, second; Dykes, third; Cronin, short; Foxx and Lazzeri, subs. Catchers—Dickey and Cochrane. Pitchers—Grove, Gomez and Ferrell.

National league: Outfielders—Klein, Paul Waner and O'Doul; Berger, sub. Infielders—Terry, first; Frisch, second; Traynor, third; Bartell, short; Vaughan and English, subs. Catchers—Hartnett and Wilson. Pitchers—Warneke, Hubbell and Lucas.

The voting contest will not end until late in June, so it is possible that subsequent ballots may result in at least a few changes from the present lineups.

THE outstanding feature of the balloting, is the slump of Babe Ruth in the esteem of fandom. The count of the votes discloses that a substantial majority of the followers of the national game rate Al Simmons as a more valuable, more efficient exponent of baseball than the former king of the home run swatters.

A few years ago, Ruth was on a lofty pedestal. No player in either of the major leagues could make so much as a start in the direction of comparing in popularity with the big bambino. Ruth, it seems, will be selected for one of the outfield stations of teh American league team, but he is below Big Al in the affections and judgments of the fans, at least to date, and probably will continue to trail the White Sox slugger in the future balloting.

Meantime, have you cast your vote in the All-Star contest? The Star, which is co-operating with the Chicago Tribune and 50 leading newspapers throughout the nation, will publish a voting coupon two or three times each week during the windup of the contest. If you haven't voted, watch the columns of The Star, clip the coupon, write in the names of the players of your choice and rush by mail to The Star's sports editor. All ballots forwarded to The Star will count in the final decisions.

ZERO HOUR NEAR IN FISTIC WAR

Fighters Ready for Fray; Fans All Set Storm Box Office.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

NEW YORK, June 7—(INS)—One of the biggest sports crowds of the "tight money" era is expected to turn out Thursday night to see Promoter Jack Dempsey's ring spectacle—the 15 round battle between Max Schmeling of Germany and Max Baer of California. The fight has "caught on." Out-of-town fans are flocking here; hotels are crowding up with visitors; the advance sale has perked up considerably and the "ballyhoo," led by the personable Mr. Dempsey himself, has gone over with a bang.

They say the "gate" will hit $250,000. (Not bad these days). Dempsey thinks maybe three hundred grand. The advance sale today has reached the $150,000 mark, which is far ahead of the early sale of the Schmeling-Sharkey brawl of a year ago in Long Island City when the German lost the title through a questionable decision. It may be the crowd will total from 60,000 to 70,000 persons.

Betting is moderately brisk, with Schmeling a three to two favorite. The bankrolls are being unlimbered, although no heavy wagers have been laid—yet. The Broadwayites seem to like Schmeling, the out-of-towners Baer.

Trained to Fine Edge.

The principals, Schmeling and Baer, trained to a fine edge, have completed their six weeks' conditioning grind and will spend the next 24 hours resting for the fray. Neither will do anything more vigorous than light calisthenics, and perhaps a little hiking.

Schmeling will motor to New York today for his camp at Lake Swannanoa, chaperoned by his manager, Joe Jacobs, and his handlers. Baer also will come in today from Atlantic City, accompanied by his manager, Ancil Hoffman, his trainer, Mike Cantwell, and his father, Jacob Baer.

Baer will hide out in a private home here until 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the principals will make their next public appearance at the weighing ceremonies. Schmeling is expected to tip the beam at his natural fighting weight of around 190 pounds and Baer at 206—or higher. There is an apparently well-founded report that the Californian may scale around 218 pounds.

German Natural Fighter.

Those who like Schmeling to win—and they are in the majority—point out that in all his battles in this country the German has shown one outstanding quality—cool headedness. In addition, he is a natural born fighter, courageous, durable and smart. He has a good left hand and a trip-hammer right.

Those who like Baer in this fight emphasize two things—his punch and his magnificent physique. They point out he can hit terrific blows with either hand. And he can "take it." Baer is willing to take two or three blows to deliver one. Whether this will be a good policy in dealing with Schmeling remains to be seen. Baer also has sublime courage and can be counted upon to "shoot the works," if necessary. If any gambling is done within the ropes, the consensus is it will be done by the debonair and rather reckless Baer.

Playground Tossers To Start June 14th

The opening of the Building playground ball league has been postponed until Wednesday, June 14. Recreational Director Jimmy Lewis announced the delay will make possible the addition of several more teams.

The clubs already listed include Lincoln Star, Golds, Post Office, Bankers Life, Sharp, Stuart and two teams from First National bank.

BERLIN TO KEEP 1936 OLYMPIAD

Committee Holds Belief Germany Will Observe Spirit of Games.

VIENNA, June 7—(AP)—The international Olympic committee decided unanimously today to hold the 1936 games in Berlin, settling definitely a controversy that has raged over Jewish discrimination in Germany.

The committee expressed itself as satisfied that the contests will be carried out in Berlin in the Olympic spirit, despite the bans placed on Jewish activity in all branches of German life by Chancellor Hitler.

Germany Gives Pledge.

VIENNA, June 7—(INS)—On assurance from Germany that Jews will not be excluded from competition, the international Olympic congress today decided to permit the 1936 Olympic games to be held in Berlin as scheduled.

The decision followed a declaration by the German delegates as follows:

1—That State Secretary Lewald will remain as president of the German Olympic committee. He had been slated for dismissal on the grounds he is of Jewish origin.

2—That all laws regulating the Olmypic Games will be observed.

3—That German Jews will not be excluded from membership on German teams.

The last assurance was given on the emphatic insistence of General Charles Sherrill and other members of the American delegation.

HITLER FIRST IN BIG BOY'S MIND

Baer Bent On Avenging Mistreatment of His Racial Brothers.

BY PAT ROBINSON.

NEW YORK, June 7—(INS)—To Max Schmeling, party of the first part, the approaching fistic festivities constitute just another fight to be waged strictly on a cash-and-carry basis. And, in passing, it may be said that Max intends to confine his carrying tomorrow night to the 30 per cent of the $350,000 gate Promoter Jack Dempsey fondly anticipates.

But to Max Baer, party of the second part, the proceedings have taken on the semblance of a holy war to be waged as an added protest to Hitler's alleged anti-Semitism.

How sincere Baer is in his protest, the writer, of course, is in no position to say, but Baer still was talking about Germans and Jews today. Germans seem to be an obsession with him and, if his feeling is on the level, it may play an important part in the fight.

Perhaps Not 100 Per Cent.

But Baer is an uncertain individual at best. It's hard to say when he's clowning and when he's in earnest. It is not even certain that he's the 100 per cent Jewish he now claims to be, and I shouldn't like to wager many kopecks that he weighs the 218 pounds he says he weighs.

The only thing sure about him is that physically, he's perfect; mentally, he's something less than a genius, and esthetically, he leaves something to be desired.

However, after watching him training for many days, the only conclusion the writer can reach is this: Baer is bigger, faster, stronger and younger than Schmeling. He can take it till the debs come home—and they come in very late indeed—and he can hand it out about as hard as anybody in the ring today.

Confidence Boils Over.

He's bubbling over with confidence—no mean asset in itself. Possessing all these attributes, he must be rated better than a two to one shot.

The writer agrees with Baer that his best chance to win is by a knockout. One gathers the impression from Baer himself that he believes his only chance to win is by a kayo and he seems to think if the fight goes the limit, Schmeling may get the decision.

In any event, it figures to be a sizzling battle, for, as Baer himself said today, "Mr. Baer's little boy, Maxie, will be bearing down all the way," and you may also be sure Schmeling won't be handcuffed when the gong rings.

New Squawk By Jacobs.

LAKE SWANNANOA, N. J., June 7—(INS)—Declaring Max Baer is addicted to foul punches, Joe Jacobs came to bat today with a novel proposal which he claimed would protect his fighter, Max Schmeling, in tomorrow night's fight. Jacobs said he would suggest to the New York state athletic commission tomorrow that every time either fighter strikes a foul blow, the commision fine him $5,000 and turn the money over to the milk fund.

Schmeling Sure of Success.

LAKE SWANNANOA, N. J., June 7—(INS)—Max Schmeling doesn't know just what kind of a fight he is going to make against Max Baer in New York tomorrow night, except that it will be "a winning one."

"I don't know how I'm going to fight Baer at this moment," the German said today before leaving for New York. "I'll figure him out after the first two minutes of fighting. They said he's going to make a rushing fight of it. Well, that's all right with me. I'll win, no matter what kind of a fight it is."

Schmeling ended his training yesterday with an easy workout.

Dempsey Makes the Grade.

NEW YORK, June 7—(INS)—Until late Thursday night it will not be known which is the better man, Max Baer of Oakland or Max Schmeling of Germany, but it was rather firmly established today that Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa mauler, has made a comeback.

This comeback is as the promoter of the Battle of the Maxies and today, with an advance sale of $130,000 reported, it appears as though Dempsey just can't miss going over the top financially.

It was reported at fight headquarters that Dempsey would have to collect at least $125,000 before he could consider throwing the red ink bottle out the window.

That the fight is to go over with a financial bang is further indicated in the movement among the ticket specs, with scalpers asking as much as $100 a pair for tickets in the third row. The "specs" are asking $75 for seats in the eighth row and are reported to be doing quite a brisk business at that figure.

Toughens Up For Ring Bout

CHICAGO, June 7—(AP)—Tanned and hardened by two weeks' training in his outdoor camp in the Wisconsin woods, Barney Ross, Chicago challenger for the world's lightweight championship, was back today to finish conditioning for his title contest with Tony Canzoneri at the Chicago stadium June 23.

Ross added about eight pounds to his frame while in the woods, but this extra poundage will peel off once the finishing touches to his training gets under way. Ross, who never weighed more than 136 pounds for any fight, will have no trouble making the lightweight limit.

Narrow Fairways At North Shore Menace "Pros" In U. S. Open

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

CHICAGO, June 7—(INS)—They speak today with well-bred approval of Sarazen, the two-time winner of 1932, and how it would be just splendid if he won the open golf championships of America and England again. But they don't say how splendid this would be for Sarazen, especially if he happened to win the American open starting tomorrow at North Shore. It begins to look now as though he mightn't.

Looks Like Outsider's Year

The talk, too, is of Hagen, with many open championships, and Diegel, with none. But if it isn't Sarazen's golf course, neither is it theirs. Names like Craig Wood, the winter champion; Olin Dutra, the P. G. A. winner; Wiffy Cox and other notorous hitters are having their day in the headlines. By Sunday morning, they may be forgotten.

It looks like an "outsider's year," perhaps a man who never won a major championship. It might be Paul Runyan, Denny Shute or Johnny Goodman, the amateur. It might be Johnny Revolta, the Menominee kid. Anybody, in fact, with the tight, sparing game necessary to play this golf course with fairways like so many narrow, crooked, winding streets of the Ghetto.

Mac Smith a Possibility.

This naturally lets "in" the inevitable Macdonald Smith, who once tied for the championship, didn't win it and, 24 years later, still hasn't. It's the course, too, for Tom Creavy, short but deadly; for Tommy Armour, the 1927 winner, and Harry Cooper, the 1927 loser; for Kirkwood, Von Elm, Phil Perkins; even Johnny Farrell, who won five years ago and hasn't been right since.

In other words, it's a 6,927-yard course that doesn't stress distance. That doesn't mean that Sarazen or Hagen or Dutra or Diegel can't win; merely that the percentage, for once, is slightly against them. No long carries. The par 5s are comparatively simple. There isn't a drop of water on the premises, except in the men's shower. The traps are shallow and hard.

Tee Shot Must Be Perfect.

But the fairways start out narrow and then sharpen to a mere foot path, so that only the perfect tee shot avoids the rough. The rough is like a matted beard. Some say it needs a niblick. Personally, I'd prefer a sickle.

Anyhow, you can stake an opponent to 50 yards off the tee and save a half-stroke if you stay in the fairway and he doesn't. Mr. Robert T. Jones, the laird of the links, shot a 71 yesterday and still didn't think it was his golf course. He said he was glad he wasn't in the tournament and, to the 151 starters tomorrow, that made it practically unanimous.

Wide Open to All.

As it is, it figures to be the most open of all open championships, with almost everybody having a chance. That, strangely, doesn't necessarily go for Billy Burke, the 1931 champion, or for Leo Diegel, the hardy annual among contenders. They say for Burke that he likes to hit his shots on the up-stroke and that this is a course of close lies. As for Diegel, he doesn't like clover and, in view of this, I'm endeavoring to confirm the rumor that they first went out and found the clover here and then built the golf course around it.

DIME ADMITS TO GAME AT LANDIS

Lincoln Fans Guests of Newspapers Tonight At Low Price.

Tonight is Lincoln Newspapers' night at Landis Field and a large turnout of fans is expected to be on hand for the second game of the Norfolk-Lincoln series. Baseball fans will be admitted to the game for 10 cents, plus the coupon printed in this issue of The Star.

Lincoln dropped the series opener to the league-leading Norfolk club Tuesday night by a 5-3 score. The Links hopped away to a 3-1 lead, but a cluster of four Norfolk runs in the fifth spilled the beans. Lincoln perpetrated five errors during the game, and several of the bobbles came during the disastrous inning.

Phillips, a new infielder, was added to the Lincoln roster Tuesday, appearing at short, while Yorke moved over to the keystone sack. Second-baseman Strother was released Tuesday to Sioux Falls.

Beatrice moved into second place Tuesday night by beating Sioux Falls, 9-7. The Blues hopped on a pair of Canary pitchers for a dozen hits. Scores:

Heavy Trading In Low-Priced Specialties Gives New York Stock Market A Lift Wednesday

Exchange Closes With Firm Tone

Gains In More Active Issues Range From Fractions to 3 Points.

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—Low priced specialties, traded in heavy volume, gave the stock market a lift today and prices finished with a steady to firm tone. Gains in the more active issues ranged from fractions to around 3 points. The recent leaders, however, generally mulled about in a narrow range. Transactions approximated 6,500,000 shares.

Renewed weakness of the American dollar in foreign exchange markets apparently had little effect on the financial markets as a whole. Commodities generally improved after on early uncertainty. Mining and metal shares attracted the most attention and some of the farm machinery stocks rallied. Most of the rails shifted about nervously.

Radio, General Motors and General Electric were turned over in large blocks in the early hours, but quieted down as the session ended. They held gains ranging from fractions to around a point. Shares up about 2 to around 4 included U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Case, American Sugar Refining, Drug, Chesapeake & Ohio, Alaska Juneau, Cerro de Pasco, United Aircraft and Missouri Pacific. Among stocks with gains of 1 or more were International Harvester, International Nickel, Montgomery Ward and Dome Mines. U. S. Steel and American Telephone did little while Union Pacific, Allied Chemical and Western Union were off fractionally to more than a point.

Carriers generally were a trifle unsettled by the Rock Island's petition in the federal court as a preliminary to readjustment of its capital structure. Rock Island common lost about 1½ and the preferred shares were off around ½ point.

Early advances of fractions to more than a point, were pared somewhat on the stock market today. Utilities were firm while rails were a trifle irregular. Industrials were generally steady to firm excepting a few isolated weak spots. Mining shares improved.

Allied Chemical halved an early advance of more than 2 points while Western Union receded after advancing more than a point. Postal Telegraph preferred retained most of a 4-point rise. Shares up fractions to a point included Consolidated Gas, United Corporation, General Motors, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, New York Central, Dome, North American and Alaska Juneau. American Can dipped slightly while National Distillers lost about a point. Call money renewed at 1 per cent.

Heavy buying in metals, specialties and rails came to the fore during the second hour. By noon American Smelting and American Sugar had advanced about 3 points each. Chesapeake & Ohio, Cerro de Pasco Copper, Firestone and New York Central were up 1 to 2. International Nickel rose a major fraction in heavy dealings.

Reports of a further extension of industrial recovery caught Wall street's major attention. News from the steel industry was once more the chief interest, with production spurting to 44 per cent of capacity as against 41 per cent a week ago, according to the "Iron Age." Evidences of contraction in finished steel demand are "entirely lacking," it was explained, and in some quarters the view is now held that June bookings will exceed those of last month.

Electric power production likewise reflected the increasing demands of general business. Output for the lastest reportable week showed a gain of 5.8 per cent over a year ago, the most extensive comparative gain for any week since the forepart of 1931.

Earnings report of the Class 1 railways for April showed that the rate of decline in net was sharply reduced. The decrease of 6.1 per cent compared with the same month last year, whereas in March the decline amounted to 67.7 per cent.

Foreign exchanges were firmer in early dealings. Sterling opened at $4.05⅞, a gain of ⅝ of a cent, while French francs were quoted at 4.71 cents, an overnight gain of 1 point.

Wheat Values Pushed Higher

Unabated Heat and Drouth Keep Prices Pointed Upward.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 7—(AP)—Unabated heat and drought southwest and west kept wheat values pointed upward today, despite forecasts of showers and some moderating of temperatures.

Much of the damage to winter wheat was reported as irreparable. Considerable buying of wheat here was done against sales at Winnipeg, and there was sharp attention given to an advance of British exchange to a new high record for the year.

Wheat closed firm, ⅞ to 1⅛c above yesterday's finish, July 74@74⅛c; Sept., 75⅜@75⅜; corn ¼ to ⅜c up, July 44½@44⅝c, Sept., 47⅛@47⅜c; oats, 1⅛ to 1⅜c advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Wheat prices averaged higher early today. Bulls contended that no change in weather conditions could improve winter wheat prospects and the spring wheat situation in South Dakota. Opening unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, wheat afterward held near the initial limits. Corn started at ¼ cent decline to ⅛ cent advance, and subsequently sagged all around.

Wheat later rose to about a cent a bushel over yesterday's finish. A leading crop authority said the character of damage being done to wheat in Kansas and Nebrasa was such that when once suffered the injury was permanent, with no hope of relief from any later weather change. He explained that this time was the period of bloom and filling of wheat west and southwest, and that excessive temperatures and drouth forced premature ripening with scorched pollen and shrunken heads.

South Dakota advices told of anxiety because of a lack of surface and subsoil moisture sufficient to carry plants through a temporary deficiency. Official figures for the past two months show actual rainfalls averaged less than half of normal at most reporting stations. Some selling of wheat resulted from transient weakness of corn prices, but commission house demand for wheat broadened quickly on dips in values. Corn and oats rallied with wheat, despite speculative pressure on corn.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to hog market declines.

About mid-session, wheat was ⅛ to ⅝ cent above yesterday's finish, and corn was unchanged to ¼ cent lower.

Corn receipts today totaled 290 cars, a week ago 410, and a year ago 37.

Corn broke sharply after the opening. Selling headed by a professional trader uncovered stop loss orders. Rallies followed, but corn failed to show the strength which prevailed in wheat and oats. Dry and hot weather was regarded as favorable for field work, and for the rapid growth of the new corn crop. Cash corn continued in liberal supply, with eastern demand relatively slow.

Foreign Markets at a Glance.

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—LONDON—Prices on the stock exchange developed irregularity, profit taking weakening most sections. Gilt edged securities were affected by a new 3½ per cent issue of electricity shares amounting to 8,000,000 pounds sterling. Trans-Atlantic issues hardened on today's better Wall street opening while Kaffirs were weak on South African taxation proposals. The closing was uncertain.

PARIS—Trading on the bourse was cautious and narrow and was marked with realizing sales in reaction to yesterday's weakness in Wall street and the decline in raw materials. The close was heavy.

BERLIN—Trading on the bourse was quiet today the market closing listlessly.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—SUGAR—Sharp reactions occurred in sugar futures today under heavy general selling, which, seemed to be prompted by expectations of delays in tariff changes until after the London economic conference. July contracts which sold early at 1.56 broke to 1.49 and December sold from 1.64 to 1.56. The last market was 6 to 8 points net lower.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—The curb market was active and generally higher today. Operations for the advance were stimulated by mid-week statistics on business, particularly the continued improvement in electric power production over a year ago.

Utility shares traded briskly. American Gas & Electric, American Light & Traction and Electric Bond & Share pushed upward in substantial turnovers, while Niagara Hudson and United Gas firmed fractionally.

So-called "commodity shares" profited by a better demand. Sugar issues were up on announcement of an increase in the price of refined by several leading companies. Swift & Co. was active and higher. Miscellaneous specialties prominent on the upturn included Hazel Atlas Glass, Novadel Agene and Chesbrough. Roan Antelope, A. O. Smith and Mead Johnson sagged under early profit taking. Oil stocks were quiet. Crude production increased in the past week.

Chicago Livestock.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture)

CHICAGO, June 7—(AP)—Excessive supplies and a slow demand for dressed pork served to turn hog prices downward today. Declines of fully 10 cents were registered on all classes and the top sank to $4.80, lowest peak in almost a month.

Receipts overshot advance estimated by 5,000 head and although smaller than last week's huge run, following the holiday, were considerably larger than a year ago. Packers had 14,000 or almost half the supply on direct billing and left the support of the market entirely to the smaller operators and shippers.

Outside markets also had sizeable runs and trade was generally slow and lower.

Cattle receipts were also plentiful, but most prices showed little if any revision. Trade was slow with waterfills again slowing trade.

Sheep supplies, for the first time this week, surpassed advance estimates, but were not large enough to cause any recession in prices. Many buyers had orders to fill and because of yesterday's tiny run, there were few lambs held over. Trading was slow getting under way, but was fairly active later.

HOGS—Receipts, 30,000; including 14,000 direct; slow, early sales fully 10c lower than yesterday's average on all classes; 190-280 lbs., $4.75@4.80; top, $4.80; pigs, $4 downward; good packing sows, $4.25@4.35. GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, June 7—(AP)—Weather was the subject of prime interest to the grain trade today, upon the arrival of relief from the scorching temperatures of the last three days in the middle west and southwest derend 1933 prospects for wheat and oats, and to some extent, corn crops.

Sectional relief throughout the area today or tomorrow was forecast yesterday by the United States weather bureau, but one of the leading local crop experts and statisticians expressed the opinion the high temperatures thus far in the week may be the forerunner of intense heat and hot winds in important agricultural sections.

In spite of the weather yesterday, which saw official temperatures as high as 106 in Nebraska and unofficial recordings of 120 in Kansas, wheat closed a trifle off after an early rise on a burst of buying. This was attributed to faith in government forecasts of lower temperatures, and to professional bearishness.

Though the hot dry weather was generally construed as favorable to the new corn crop a slower demand for choice grain resulted in bearish sentiment in the pit and this grain also finished a trifle lower.

Added to the heat was the grasshopper menace to crops. Reports from Montana, the Dakotas and the Red River valley said infestation was marked and told of increasing damage to spring wheat from this cause.

Ira MacNair, secretary of the National Association of Insecticide and Disinfectant Manufacturers, said the recent rains and warmth are conducive to an insect invasion.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—Bond prices continued on the upgrade today in spite of rather active realizing in some of the secondary descriptions.

The rail department continued to ignore yesterday's reduction in the Santa Fe preferred dividend, and plotted its course in accordance with unofficial estimates of a better showing of railroad revenues in the last half of the year.

Various low priced carrier issues improved their position to the extent of a point or two. They included Milwaukee 5s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Southern Railway 4s, Great Northern 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5s and Great Northern 4½s. Santa Fe 4½s recovered a fair part of yesterday's loss.

A lively speculative interest continued in the bonds of Western Union and Postal Telegraph, each gaining a new top for the movement. There was a scattering of advances in the semi-speculative utility and some of the prime issues moved up fractionally.

Further gains in steel output, as reported by the mid-week trade reviews, made for firmness in steel company bonds, but industrials in general were less active and slightly reactionary in some departments. United Drug 5s climbed 4 points on a small turnover.

The federal group showed minor changes under light trading. German and French issues were again rather soft, but other major divisions in the foreign list were firm.

Funeral Directors Told Importance Of Public Confidence

OMAHA, June 7—(AP)—Delegates to the annual convention of the Nebraska Funeral Directors and Embalmers association were told today they must work to secure the public confidence.

"There is no doubt but that funeral directors have been guilty of overselling in the past and it has reflected back on us," said Mark D. Ruch of Minneapolis. "It is up to the funeral directors to undertake the task of creating favorable public opinion."

The steadily increasing number of violent deaths, due chiefly to modern transportation facilities, has resulted in development of the new art of plastic surgery in the morticians' profession, Prof. Clarence D. Strub told members of the association Tuesday. "Restorative art," he declared, "is perhaps the most important function of the modern embalmer."

Identical Bids Are Received On Cement

In calling for bids on five carloads of cement to be used for repairing the base of brick pavement on a stretch of state highway near Elkhorn, State Purchasing Agent Farris has run up against the same uniformity of price that federal and state officials throughout the country have been complaining about.

Every bid filed with Farris was exactly the same—$2.86 per barrel with a discount of 10 per cent for cash if paid for within 15 days. The Nebraska Cement Co. and the Monarch Cement Co. of Omaha and the Ash Grove Cement Co. of Louisville submitted these terms. Farris intended to communicate with others and get their figures, but he expected they would be the same.

The award, when made, will go all to one concern and not be divided up among the bidders. Farris wil ask the state university testing department to pass on the quality of the various samples.

Proposed City Purchase Of Cabin Camp Debated In Council Meetings

A considerable portion of the informal conference of the city council was given over Wednesday to discussion of the proposal of the Lincoln Automobile club that the city take over the Antelope park cabin camp.

Another meeting on the cabin camp is scheduled for the afternoon, when opponents of the proposal will be heard, along with representatives of the Auto club. Among those who are opposing the proposal, Mayor Fleming said, are E. H. Schroder and E. B. Stephenson.

L. E. Aylsworth, secretary of the Nebraska Efficiency and Economy league, also is interested. At the city hall Wednesday morning, he said league members have been inquiring "as to the attitude of owners of other cabin camps in the city." For the most part, he said there seemed to be no opposition to the city taking over the park camp, except that by doing so the city will be placed in the position of competing with private enterprise.

Mr. Aylsworth inquired as to the terms of the contract under which the Auto club maintained the camp on park property. The agreement is contained in an ordinance, he was told. It provides for the city taking over the camp at the expiration of the lease, at a price to be agreed upon, or fixed by appraisers. Provision also is made for taking over the camp before the expiration of the contract.

Compensation Asked After Eight Years

Kelley James Seeks $1,250 For Injury While On Old Capitol Wrecking Crew.

An accident dating back eight years to the wrecking of the old capitol is involved in an application for a lump sum settlement filed in District court.

Kelley James, 47, will receive $1,250 from the insurance carrier of the J. H. Wiese Co., for a spine injury alleged to have been suffered in May, 1925 if the court approves the application. James claimed he received a broken collar bone and a permanent spine injury when a heavy timber knocked him down while he was employed by the Wiese company in helping tear down the capitol. The application also provides that James' physician is to receive $50 from the Wiese insurance carrier.

The same application asks approavl of payment of $250 by the insurance carrier of the B. J. Jobst Building Co., to James. He is alleged to have suffered a further injury to his back while lifting a raditor in the employ of the Jabst company in 1930. James has previously received $12.50 compensation and $24.50 for medical expenses from the Jobst company.

8 WOUNDED IN ILLINOIS CLASH

Rival Miners and Peace Officers Battle Near Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 7—(AP)—Eight men were wounded, five of them by gunfire, in a clash between rival miners and peace officers at the Peerless mine, a mile northwest of here, this morning.

The Peerless is operated by the Peabody Coal Co. with members of the United Mine Workers union.

A small group of national guardsmen, brought here from Taylorville last night on rumors of an impending outbreak, and several special deputy sheriffs were on duty at the mine when pickets from the Progressive Miners union clashed with United Miners enroute to work.

Of the eight injured, three were hurt by clubs and stones and the remainder by shots. Among the latter was Herman Schwaberg, a special deputy who was wounded in the right arm.

Later in the morning about 60 miners, said to be members of the Progressives, gathered at the United Mine Workers' building here, but were driven away by police.

Filling Station On West O Permitted By Lincoln Zoning Board

The zoning board of appeals Wednesday granted the requestof Guy E. Coons for a permit to build a filling station on West Ostreet, south of Capitol Beach. When completed, the station will include a wholesale and retail station. In the rear will be a large cabin camp. It was the opinion of the board that the improvement would be a desirable addition to that section.

An appeal by Bert Sturm from a ruling by the building inspector was granted. Sturm wanted a change in the setback regulations to permit him to build a garage at Tenth and Garfield streets. A permit to operate a delicatessen in the Palisade apartment at 1035 South Seventeenth street, was granted C. V. Traphagen.

The board was loath to grant permanent changes in zoning. Instead permits to do business for a limited time were granted to Ensign & De Bord, 213 South Ninth street, for a year; William Atkin, 3717 South Seventeenth street, grocery store for six months; William Trigg, Twentieth and T streets, local business for a year. Ensign & DeBord will add poultry to their butter and egg business.

Mrs. Mary Alice Sward was denied an extension of local business for her property at Fifty-sixth and O streets. The application of Mae Maixner, 901 H street for commercial use was deferred as was that of A. L. Cappers, 2120 J street, who wants to open a cafe.

Riley Brought Here to Begin Fourth Sentence

Two prisoners were brought to the penitentiary Wednesday by Deputy State Sheriff E. E. Clark of Gering and County Sheriff Fred Taylor of Ogallala. One of them, Glenn Riley, will be serving his fourth term, one of which was in the Nebraska reformatory. He and Troy Stutesman were sentenced to three years each for burglary of harness and Riley also was wanted on check charges.

Clark said that nine burglaries at Gering had been cleared with the arrest of a gang of five youths. Jacob Goss has been sentenced to a one to two years term. Carrol Emerery to 2 to 3 years and John Ross to one year. The other youths are still being held.

Dizzy Dean and Paul Dean are star pitchers, but their brother Elmer couldn't make the grade, so he took a job selling peanuts at Houston.

THE WEATHER

Pressure is still low in the Missouri Valley, the Great Plains and the upper Lake region, with center in northeastern Nebraska. Pressure continues moderately high along the Gulf coast and in the north Pacific States. Record breaking temperatures for so early in the season occurred in eastern Nebraska yesterday afternoon, but slightly cooler air, as compared with yesterday morning, has invaded the Missouri Valley this morning, and the center of warmest weather has moved eastward to the upper Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley and the Lake region. Light showers fell last night in western Nebraska, northwestern Kansas, and in the Dakotas, Montana, and western Canada.

Bobbed hair, the fashion among millions of women, is a natural trait of the woman with self-bobbing hair. She and her six children, who live in Norway, all have hair that grow out two or three inches and then breaks off, never growing any longer. Scientists investigating the strange case traced the lineage of the family back for seven generations and found it to be of pure white stock, excluding the possibility that the peculiar hair growth may be attributable to Negro blood.

Rector A. D. Danielson, Norwegian educator and himself a relative of the bobbed-haired woman, brought the case to light in publishing a record of her, and his family in connection with his studies of inheritance. Rector Danielson also has this woolly hair.

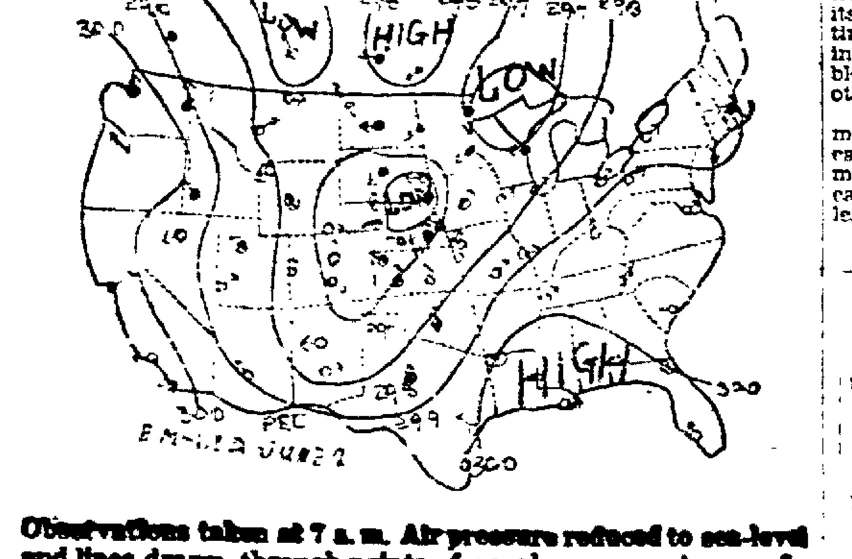

The young kangaroo is far from fully developed, even for a newborn animal, when it is born. It is born in an embryonic state and transferred, helplessly immature, to its mother's pouch, where it continues to develop. This early life in the mother's pouch is comparable to pre-natal development in other animals.

Tornadoes Strike Minnesota; Many Persons Injured

ST. PAUL, June 7—(AP)—Widespread damage and injuries to 20 or more persons resulted last night from what witnesses described as a series of tornadoes that struck scattered parts of southern and southwestern Minnesota.

Several victims of the tornado in the Worthington vicinity, most seriously damaged, placed at $100,000 the unofficial estimated loss. Physicians performed an emergency operation by gleam of flashlight when power lines were wrecked.

Hundreds of persons, seeking relief from the heat at nearby lakes were caught in the open. It was hours before they were able to reach home because debris and uprooted trees, snarled communication and power lines blocked the roads.

MINERVA'S MAIL
TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Is This Love?

Dear Minerva: I'm tremendously attracted to a man. He wants to marry me. I can't decide. I have grand times with him and he's as comfortable as an old shoe. But it isn't like I expected love to be. I am not overwhelmed by him. I'd hate to see some other girl get him, but maybe that's just selfishness. I'm in a fog over it. Do you think I am in love. I really don't know. —IN DOUBT.

A. Doubtless you are in love. But you've been reading so many thriller novels and seeing so many high-geared love scenes on the screen that you are disappointed because you don't emote like these fiction heroines do.

Dietitians tells us that our appetites are guides to our physical food needs. But if you have gone long on a sweets and starches jag, it's more of this rich fare that you crave, but not that you need.

If you have developed a taste for flirtatious thrills and a susceptibility for the game of hearts, you will find it pretty hard to recognize the real when you do experience it.

The loving heart is a romantic heart, opened to new enchantments and illusions. Don't discard your illusions. Love can be, and is, illusion plus reason. Love is a romantic friendship which should grow and ripen and sweeten with life—not the over-ripe infatuation that bruises easily and becomes rotten at the first hard knocks.

It's permanency you're contemplating, and it's the wear-well qualities you must judge by. Beware of the perishables. If you are inwardly resolving to change many little things in him when once he is yours, then look out.

If you are assuming a virtue you have not, or a vivacity that imposes strain, there's danger ahead. You can keep up the pretense, along with the waved hair and the lipsticked perfection, for the occasional dates, but not in the hurly-burly of everyday life.

Love is a sturdy sort of contentment—courageous, dauntless, based on faith and trust in him and yourself. Mere glamour won't hold up.

Home Or Career?

Dear Minerva: Do you think a home or a career brings more lasting happiness to a woman. I have a very interesting and fairly profitable profession, one which promises a fascinating and lucrative future, if all goes well. I really love my work. But I also love a man. He says I must choose between him and my work, for he will not tolerate a working wife, no matter how much in love he may be. This declaration of his caused a serious break between us, and I did not see him for four long, unhappy months. Now we are again going together. I do not now resent his idea, but I am not sure that I want to conform to them. My mother and father divorced when I was young. My mother remarried twice, my father once. I know I saw an unusual amount of unhappiness in marriage, and it makes me afraid to give up my liberty. I know any number of smart, successful business women, and the life looks pretty good to me. On the other hand, I love him so. So what's the poor girl going to do? Please advise.—DOROTHY D.

A. Really, there's no more satisfactory profession than that of home-maker for the man you love, no more promising or exciting future to look forward to than the adventure of marriage and a family and all the ups and downs that really mean a life of fulfillment to a woman.

Oh, I like the careers for women, too. Independence and work that satisfies are splendid things. But I'd never advise a woman to give up marriage to a man she loves for any of these. Even if Fate should decree that the marriage should go on the rocks, I'd still believe it to have been worth while.

You can have inspiring outside interests, too, no less fascinating because you are not being paid for them.

Bound for Reno

With the departure of Mrs. William K. Dick, one of New York's most prominent society matrons for Reno, reports are persistent that a divorce is in the offing. The widow of John Jacob Astor, who was lost in the Titanic disaster, married William K. Dick in 1916.

Double Crossing.

Dear Minerva: I am very deeply in love with a girl. We were practically engaged to be married. By that I mean, we had an understanding, but were waiting until her graduation this spring before we cemented it with a ring and announcement. Then another man walked on the scene and she is obviously fascinated by him. He has given her a tremendous whirl and completely turned her head. When on a business trip recently, I learned all about this man, who is a newcomer and a transient in our town. He has a wife and three children living in another state. He has a rotten reputation both financially and socially. He is entirely the bounder. He is not divorced from his wife, nor even separated. Friends say she knows about his flirtations, but doesn't take them seriously because they are so common.

Now what shall I do? Spill it to his wife and ask her to intercede? Tell my girl, or my ex-girl, what I've learned. Tell it to her friends so they will tell her about it. Or keep still and watch her ride to a fall and then pick up the pieces.

The affair is so conspicuous in our circle that her friends are daily expecting her to announce her engagement to this one. They are giving me a lot of pity, which I hate. Most anything I do will look like sour grapes. Yet I love her so much, and can't and don't blame her for falling for this smooth and devilishly experienced man, for she is pretty unsophisticated. What should I do?—JERRY.

A. I think I'd approach the man and tell him quietly that you wil expose his duplicity to his social and business associates unless he pulls out and leaves the girl alone. I'd do this, if I were quite sure I could hold my temper, conduct myself like a gentleman, and be ready to follow up my threat with a wholesale exposure, let the chips fall where they may. Otherwise, I'd keep still and wait for the anticipated fall. To tell the girl might so hurt her pride that she could never forgive you. A man who plays a fast and loose game like that is pretty sure to run to cover when he knows he is discovered. The fun is over for him, then.

LOANS MADE TO NEBRASKA FIRMS

Co-op Creameries and Cheese Company Get Federal Cash.

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—A loan of $5,000 to the Farmers Equity Cooperative Creamery association at Orleans, Neb., during the two months ended April 30 brought outstanding farm board revolving fund advances to Nebraska cooperatives to $98,262. That was reported this week by Governor Morgenthau of the farm credit administration.

Total loans outstanding in Nebraska are: Calloway Co-operative Creamery, Calloway, $3,510; Farmers Equity Cooperative Creamery association, Orleans, $31,115; North Platte Valley Cooperative Cheese company, Gering, $63,637.

Under the governor's stated policy, information concerning loans to cooperatives from the board's revolving fund will be made public each month.

SWENK PREDICTS LESS DAMAGE BY INSECTS TO CROPS

Myron H. Swenk, University of Nebraska entomologist, today said Nebraska farmers could expect less trouble from insect pests this spring than in the last few years.

The grasshopper, which only a few years ago joined forces with the drouth to ravage northeastern Nebraska, has shown prospects of only scattering damage this year, Swenk said.

He said the chinch bugs in southeastern and south central Nebraska had been reported as increasingly disturbing in the last ten days. The spring canker worm, he said, was reported stripping elm groves in some districts and gardeners were complaining that striped cucumber beetles were more numerous this year and were hurting melons and cucumbers.

Swenk also said there is considerable Hessian fly but he did not believe it would be worse than last year. The south central and central counties infected last year, probably will suffer the most again this year, although it is too early to tell what damage the fly may do.

Seven Boys To Be Made Eagle Scouts

The June session of the Boy Scout court of honor will be held Thursday evening at the O'Nite camp south of Lincoln with troop 18 of the Westminster Presbyterian church acting as host troop. According to the custom of the past few years the summer sessions of the court will be held at this camp.

Seven scouts will be awarded their eagle badges by the court. They are Leonard VanLiew, troop 3; Bob Voigt, troop 5; Bill Cochrane, Dick Hitchcock and Dick Joyce, troop 18; Bud Forney, troop 21 and Harry Ankeny, troop 41.

Chairs will be provided for parents and friends of the scouts who wish to attend the court, which is a public ceremony. The court at this sesson will be conducted around a huge council fire.

Bishop Claire To Give Lecture Here.

Methodist Ministers Sponsor Address Tonight In Behalf Of Newman Church.

Bishop Matthew W. Claire of Covington, Ky., prominent negro religious and educational leader, will deliver an address Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the St. Paul Methodist church. Another feature of the program will be the presentation of an original musical production by the Newman Methodist church choir.

The Methodists of the city are supporting this meeting which is a part of the campaign being made by the Newman congregation to raise $2,500 for the completion of their church. Rev. Ira W. Kingsley, pastor of the Grace church, is chairman of a committee in charge of raising the fund.

Rev. P.H. Murdick, pastor of the Trinity church and president of the Lincoln Methodist Ministers' association, urges attendance at the Wednesday night meeting, pointing out that Bishop Claire is a lecturer of unusual ability and one of the outstanding platform men of his race.

The Newman Methodist church has been occupying the basement of their building, but erection of the superstructure was begun recently and they hope to raise funds through the campaign for its completion.

GOOD RECORD OF MODERN WOODMEN TOLD BY TALBOT

DETROIT, June 7—(AP)—The international convention of the Modern Woodmen of America elects officers today. A. R.Talbot, Lincoln, Neb., head consul, is unopposed for re-election.

Talbot, who has served the organization for three decades, told the 267 voting delegates in the opening sessions that the Modern Woodmen of America, one of the largest fraternal insurance bodies in the world, has gross assets of more than $39,000,000, of which more than 76 per cent was invested in bonds of federal, state, municipal and school groups.

The organization has made rapid strides during the depression, Talbot said.

"This organization has made a phenomenal record since the last international meeting in Chicago," he declared. "During the last four years, 181,435 members were added to the rosters, we have had no occasion to borrow money from any source, and we actually invested $800,000 a month during 1932."

STEEL PRODUCTION POINTING UPWARD

NEW YORK, June 7—(AP)—Steel production and demand are still pointing upward and "Iron Age" today reported a rise in the national ingot output average to 44 per cent of capacity from 41 per cent a week ago.

"Evidences of contraction in finished steel demand are entirely lacking, the review said, "and in some quarters the view is now held that June bookings will exceed those of last month. It is to be conceded, of course, that buyers have every incentive to make protective purchases, but the chances for speculative covering are minimized because of the reluctance of mills to commit themselves.

POLAND MAY QUIT LEAGUE

WARSAW, June 7—(AP)—That Poland might resign from the League of Nations was intimated today in the official Gazetta Polska in commenting on France's decision to initial Premier Mussolini's four-power peace pact. The newspaper said: "Poland will no longer be interested in belonging to the league should the pact materialize, because institutions democratic in principle will then cease to exist."

CONVICTED NEGRO ASKS THIRD TRIAL

ATHENS, Ala., June 7—(AP)—A motion for a third trial for Heywood Patterson, one of the nine negro defendants in the Scottsboro attack case, will be heard here June 22.

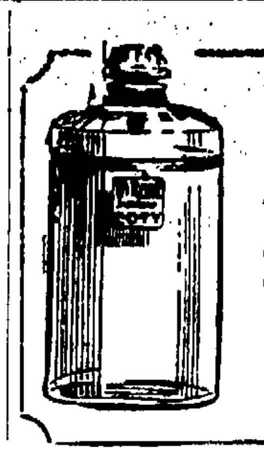

Judge James E. Horton set the date yesterday. Patterson has twice been convicted and sentenced to death in the case in which the negroes are accused of attacking two white girls aboard a freight train. Patterson and six others were granted new trials by the United States Supreme court.

Two of the negroes are to be given separate hearings as juveniles. Patterson is the only one of the others retried so far.

Frauds Practiced Upon Life Insurance Firms

CHICAGO, June 7—(AP)—Frauds practiced upon life insurance companies have made necessary the tightening up of medical examinations and inspections of applicants, J. B. Mabon, Montreal, Can., said today in an address prepared for delivery before the medical section of the American Life convention.

Other papers were scheduled for presentatiton by Dr. Thomas Dickson, jr., St. Paul, and Dr. Henry W. Cook, Minneapolis.
